Application Is Filed For 18-Acre Mill Valley Site

Plans for a four-million-dollar "marineland" project in Marin County were announced today.

San Francisco promoters including Philip Ehrlich Sr., father of the mayor of Sausalito, said they had filed application to "purchase or lease" 18 acres of Mill Valley marshland reserved by the city for recreation north and west of Richardson Bay Bridge.

Other sites are possible, Ehrlich said, but engineering and other advice strongly favored the city-owned property for which application was made this morning.

CHECK DEPOSITED

The newly formed Marine World Corp., of which Ehrlich is treasurer and counsel, deposited a $25,000 check with Mill Valley today "as evidence of good faith." It promises to spend a minimum million and a half on the marine exhibition but expects the amount to be three or four million while other proposals are also made:

1. To take over management of the proposed Mill Valley yacht harbor when completed.

2. To develop a Florida-type "cypress garden" with shows of all kinds adding up to a sort of "ice follies on the water" as Ehrlich put it.

The "marineland" probably would be put out to bid and construction should be completed 18 months after city acceptance of the land allocation proposal, Ehrlich said. He said the city might have a deal starting with rental and later leading to participation.

SPECIAL FEATURES

Bradford G. Baruh, president of the corporation, said the marine exhibition would be similar to marinelands at Pacific Palisades and in Florida but with some special features including, if possible, a rare killer whale.

Included would be a parking lot for 1,000 cars at the south end. Next to this would be a restaurant with outdoor dining, able to accommodate 1,000 to 2,000 daily. There would also be gift and sporting goods shops, possibly other concessions, and picnic areas.

Two main tanks each of 80 foot diameter, holding 500,000 gallons of water apiece, would be gate-connected with one containing pilot whales and the other dolphins — all trained, and giving four "circus act" shows daily.

Two smaller tanks would contain 10,000 or more ocean fish, some weighing beyond 500 pounds and 12 to 15 feet long. These wouldn't perform, but there would be three floors of viewing platforms with portholes.

At the north end would be a big pool arena with seats for 3,000 where porpoises and seals would give four shows daily.

Features would include pools for performing whales, porpoises and seals, tanks for rare fish, a restaurant and shops, and a 1,000-car parking lot.

Novato Trustees Face Recall Vote

3 Would Not Hire Smith

A recall move against Novato school trustees Earl Marshall, William Kirk and Joseph Sereda was started last night by a newly formed committee.

The new committee, an outgrowth of the Committee for Clear Thinking, will start circulating petitions within a few days to get a recall election, said Gordon Leathers and Samuel A. Hagler Jr., who were named co-chairmen. Robert A. Porteous will handle finances. Mrs. Frank Henry is secretary.

FIVE MEETINGS

Marshall, Kirk and Sereda constitute the majority on the Novato Unified School Board that voted Tuesday night against continuing negotiations with Supt. William J. J. Smith on a new contract. Smith resigned Dec. 19 after a four and one-half hour closed session with the board. Since that time, the board has held three public and two executive meetings on granting him a new contract. His present contract expires June 30.

The new committee will hire legal counsel and then get out petitions for the recall, said Hugh Turner, committee member. It will take approximately 1,200 signatures to get the election.

The community should "decide who is right in this issue," Turner said.

WASN'T THERE

Smith did not attend the meeting. Committee members agreed the committee would not align itself with Smith, Turner said, but would "work independently."

Marshall and Kirk, questioned today, said they were not surprised at the action.

"It's the only recourse the people have," Marshall said.

Kirk said he "did what I felt

Marin Youth Dies In Roadster Crash

A 21-year-old Belvedere student was killed instantly early today when his sports roadster plunged off Highway 101 to crash onto the Sausalito lateral below. (See also photo, on page 10.)

Two California Highway Patrolmen who witnessed the accident from below estimated that the car traveled 75 to 100 feet through the air.

Jeffery Michael Mishkind of 35 Bellevue Avenue, the victim, was returning to Marin from San Francisco at 1:50 a.m.

His death was Marin county's second highway fatality of this year as compared with one at this time last year.

Investigation indicated that Mishkind's car possibly hit the divider as he was traveling in the left lane.

Traveling behind the Mishkind car, Gary De Soto of 43 Knight Drive, San Rafael, noticed Mishkind's vehicle weaving severely —it struck the guard rail at the south end of the bridge which passes over the Sausalito lateral, bent the rail and somersaulted over it to the road below.

Highway Patrolmen V. C. Weimer and C. C. Woodworth were parked below. They heard a loud crash, then saw the car flying through the air.

The roadster landed on its top and rolled to the right, throwing the driver out before stopping on its wheels. Mishkind's body lay six feet from the car. He had struck on his head at a point covered with red rock.

Mishkind was dead on arrival at Marin General Hospital.

Investigation showed that the car had first hit an eight-by-eight inch post knocking it out of its hole. It was at the end of a length of steel railing, 10 feet of which was bent back with the post still attached.

A sign designating the Sausalito undercrossing bridge was sheared off.

After knocking out the rail, the car had traveled 15 feet across loose red rock east of the highway before going off the embankment.

Mishkind was a student at City College of San Francisco. He was a son of Charles T. and Elizabeth Pearl Mishkind. He is survived by his parents and a sister, Loriann, 24, at the Belvedere address.

Secret Probe Of Gem Thefts Is Revealed

Details of a super-secret investigation into two San Francisco jewel robberies netting $110,000 came to light today after an attractive, 27-year-old Corte Madera woman named a Larkspur man in both robberies and implicated herself in one of them.

She named a Hayward man as the actual robber in both crimes.

Her secret testimony to the San Francisco Grand Jury was made public after Mrs. Heather Leighton of 22 Golden Hind Passage, Corte Madera, was treated at Ross General Hospital after gulping 33 sleeping pills Tuesday night in a room in the Carmel Hotel in San Rafael. She was in satisfactory condition today.

She implicated Matt Davis, 26, Larkspur as directing the robberies.

Mrs. Leighton, operator of a cleaning shop in San Rafael, escaped charges in exchange for her testimony naming Davis and David Windham, 23,

Mill Valley's Treasurer Out Of Duties

The Mill Valley City Council last night decided to strip City Treasurer William G. Rutherford of his last duty—processing assessment districts—with finance director Earl Yancy probably to do the job.

It was suggested that Rutherford, since he would have nothing left to do, might give some of his $300 monthly salary to Yancy for doing his work.

TO BE REPLACED

Harry Aubushon, who was appointed by Rutherford as his deputy, will be replaced with Rutherford's approval. It was suggested that Yancy take over the job. City Atty. Leland H. Jordan was asked to give an opinion at the Feb. 7 council meeting as to whether Yancy can hold this additional job legally.

Councilman Michael Wornum moved that Rutherford be approached to pay Yancy from his salary for processing the assessment districts, saying it is unfair that Rutherford get the money and Yancy do the work. Other councilmen agreed but the motion was withdrawn when councilmen Joseph E. Sheeks and George D. Monardo said this was not the way to go about it.

PROBE ON JOB

Sheeks, prodded by Manuel Gomez in the audience to explain the situation, said the council, in wrestling with the treasurer problem for 18 months, had investigated reducing the treasurer's salary and removing him from office but was told by the city attorney it could not be done.

"We have," said Sheeks, "arranged to put on the April ballot the question of whether the office should be made appointive rather than elective."

The audit report, delayed because auditor Frederic D. Kerr said some figures were lacking, was put over to Feb. 7.

Record Peacetime Budget Presented

COMBINED AP & UPI

WASHINGTON — President John F. Kennedy, in the first federal budget of his own making, called today for record peacetime spending of 92.5 billion dollars and a wobbly surplus of about 500 million—a margin possible only if revenues rocket and the price of mailing a letter is increased. (Budget at a glance, page 3.)

The spending blueprint, which covers the 1963 fiscal year starting July 1, foresees a spending rise of nearly 3.5 billion dollars over the current level. More than 75 per cent of the increase would involve military and space programs.

Kennedy said he expects outlays to total slightly more than 92.5 billion dollars—an amount exceeded only twice before, during World War II.

Immediate reaction from Republican Congressional leaders, charged that Kennedy is "heading us toward the Leviathan state" with his new spending proposals. But most Democrats termed it a sound program for peace and prosperity.

Budget Director David E. Bell defended the budget and predicted the government would be about 500 million dollars in the black over the bookkeeping year.

Bell remarked that some Democrats last year accused former President Dwight D. Eisenhower of submitting a "phony" budget which indicated a surplus that did not materialize. "It is our judgment that this is not a phony . . . but an honest one."

Bolinas Harbor, Muir Woods In National Budget

Money for buildings and roads in Muir Woods National Monument and for dredging of Bolinas Harbor is included in President John F. Kennedy's budget requests, presented to Congress today.

The president asked $93,000 for buildings and $57,300 for roads in Muir Woods National Monument. Supt. Frederick M. Martischang of the national monument said three new residences for rangers would be built above the monument's headquarters, water and sewage facilities would be improved and redwood log seats replaced. There is now one residence—Martischang's — in the monument.

The $57,300 would be used to resurface the upper parking area, replace three trail bridges and do trail servicing throughout the park, said Martischang.

The $15,000 for Bolinas Harbor would be for an engineering survey of the channel.

7 Marin Mayors Back 'Anti-Communist Week'

Seven Marin mayors were left as apparent endorsers of the "San Francisco Bay Region School of Anti-Communism" through "Anti - Communist Week" proclamations today after the city council of an eighth mayor voted to disclaim any connection with it.

Two of the 10 mayors in the county did not sign the proclamation, circulated to them in connection with the upcoming school to be conducted in the Oakland Auditorium Jan. 29 - Feb. 2 by Dr. Fred C. Schwarz, Australian "anti - communist fighter."

The other eight signed, only one with concurrence by his city council.

The storm broke last night in Mill Valley, whose Mayor Robert D. Huber was one of the eight.

The Mill Valley Record yesterday published a story that nine Marin mayors had signed the proclamation (later denied by one of the nine named).

The proclamation declared Jan. 29-Feb. 2 "Anti-Communist Week" and called attention that the dates coincide with Schwarz's Oakland school.

County Supervisor Peter Behr was the first of a series of Mill Valley citizens to speak out at last night's city council meeting.

"I will be clawed and fanged from all sides," said Behr, "but I couldn't care less since this is a matter of principle.

"I was shocked, dismayed and disappointed in Mayor Hu-

Well, Well, Warm, Wet Weather

It will probably be wet but warmer in Marin County tonight and tomorrow according to the local weatherman.

The U.S. Weather Bureau forecaster predicted that the rising temperatures will be accompanied by occasional rain.

The coldest spot in Marin County last night was Novato which reported temperatures dipping to a low of 28 degrees. Elsewhere in the county, temperatures remained above the 32-degree freeze point.

Three communities reported rainfall during the night. For the 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. today, Terra Linda recorded .05 of an inch, Woodacre, .01, and a trace was reported in Larkspur.

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — The wife of San Francisco Giants baseball star Willie Mays, Scarlett Wendell Mays, has filed for a Mexican divorce, charging incompatibility.

The U.N. source in Leopoldville said the U.N. considered the incident an internal Congolese affair and that Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula wanted to handle it himself.

New Low-Cost Medical Plan Is Revealed

CHICAGO (AP)—A new low-cost medical and surgical insurance plan for the aged has been announced by Blue Shield, a nationwide insurance program, and the American Medical Assn.

The plan, announced yesterday, would provide benefits for all persons over 65 for as low as three dollars a month. It must be approved and worked out by the 69 Blue Shield affiliates and local and county medical groups.

The AMA said it is recommending that all state medical societies cooperate fully with their local Blue Shield affiliates to put the plan into operation as soon as possible.

First reaction from a few officials of medical groups was generally in favor of the program.

The proposal, with one agreed upon less than two weeks ago by the American Hospital Assn. and the Blue Cross Assn., completes organized medicine's answer to the president's plan to place health care for the aged under Social Security.

The AHA and Blue Cross agreed on a private hospitalization plan for retired persons over 65—to cost $10 to $12 per person per month—under which the federal government would be asked to pay the premiums for all those unable to do so.

The principle of ability to pay, with the most assistance to the needy, is involved in both plans.

New Dominican Junta Seems Army Takeover

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Dominican Republic's new junta clamped tight restrictions on the country today with a series of sweeping decrees designed to stifle opposition to the apparent takeover by the military. But unrest seethed in Santo Domingo.

Huberto Bogaert, a civilian official of the Trujillo era, was named to head the junta of four civilians and three military men that deposed the 16-day-old all-civilian council of state Tuesday night.

But authoritative reports filtering through the strict Dominican censorship said the real strongman is the armed forces chief, Gen. Pedro Rodriquez Echavarria.

In Washington, State Department officials said the junta appeared to be completely under the power of Rodriquez Echavarria, 37. They said the Kennedy administration is determined to oppose revival of strongman rule in Santo Domingo and is planning strong measures should the new government prove to be a military dictatorship.

The junta decreed a modified form of martial law, suspending civil guarantees, and imposed a dusk to dawn curfew.

Heavily armed troops patrolled the capital streets. But tanks and more troops had to be called out yesterday to break up a student demonstration protesting the swift government change the night before.

The troops reportedly opened fire on the youths, killing one and wounding two others. One band of youths

Assessment District Welter In State Called Unintelligible

SACRAMENTO (AP) — E. R. Stallings, San Mateo County manager, says the multitude of special assessment districts within California counties presents "a completely unintelligible picture to the voters."

Stallings testified before the Assembly Interim Committee on Municipal and County Government yesterday on a bill that would help county boards of supervisors consolidate such districts.

He said state law clearly requires a two thirds vote for approval of school bonds. But laws regulating special district bond elections, he said, are not so clear.

As a result, he said, voters are often confused when asked to decide on bond issues to raise money for such purposes as sewage disposal, fire protection and insect abatement.

Peggy L. McElligott of the San Mateo law firm of Wilson, Harzfeld Jones and Morton, which specializes in municipal law said increasing county control at the expense of the local districts will place more power in the hands of "non-elective and consequently non-responsive county employees and officials."

Thant Pressing For West New Guinea Peace

Appeals Cabled To Sukarno, Dutch Premier

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Acting Secretary-General Thant pressed a peace-making effort today to bring The Netherlands and Indonesia together for negotiations to settle their dispute over control of West New Guinea.

Thant cabled identical appeals to Indonesia President Sukarno and Dutch Premier Jan de Quay to accept his services as go-between. He asked both to hold off from any drastic action in retaliation for Monday's naval clash off the coast of New Guinea.

"I earnestly appeal to your excellency and your government," Thant's cables said, "to refrain from any precipitate action following the clash of naval vessels which took place on 14 January. (The attack actually occurred on Jan. 15).

"I would also request that your permanent representative in New York be instructed to discuss with me the possibilities of a peaceful settlement of the whole question in conformity with the purposes and principles of the charter of the United Nations."

Later Thant talked with Dutch Ambassador C. W. A. Schurmann and Indonesian Ambassador Sukardjo Wirjopranoto. Informants said he notified them formally of his cables to their governments.

Sukardjo told newsmen that Indonesia was "flexible." He added, however, that his government favors negotiations only if the Dutch government commits itself in advance to transfer administrative control of the disputed territory to Indonesia.

The Dutch government will accept Thant's offer to mediate, government circles in the Hague said. The Dutch reply to Thant was expected to be published today.

De Quay cabled Thant Tuesday that his cabinet had expressed readiness as early as Jan. 2 to negotiate with Indonesia "under your auspices and without any preconditions." He said the offer still stood but he warned that his government reserved the right of self-defense if Indonesia attacked Dutch territory.

The Dutch reportedly are reconciled to giving the Indonesians control over the territory. But apparently they are withholding an advance pledge in hopes of obtaining some assurance in the negotiations that the Papuan population of West New Guinea ultimately will be allowed a plebiscite to determine whether they will be independent or Indonesian.

A dispatch from Jakarta said Sukarno's cabinet was pinning its last hope of avoiding war on the U.N. chief. The cabinet was said to feel that Thant alone could manager to bring Indonesia and The Netherlands to a conference table — something the United States and other big powers have been unable to accomplish.

Communist Doubletalk Like Zebra With Day, Night Bark

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP) — "Like the zebra which has a day and a night bark, the Communists are using different languages to suit their audiences," a Senate study said today.

The study, entitled "Wordsmanship, Semantics as a Communist Weapon," was published by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. It was prepared by Dr. Stefan T. Possony, director of international studies of the Hoover Institution, Stanford.

"The weapon of words is more subtle and less immediately destructive than nuclear bombs," Possony says, "but, just like the winds and the seas which can hollow out the hardest rock, it has the power of eroding society."

In condensed form, here are examples Possony listed of how he thinks different meanings are attached to the same words by Americans and Communists:

Capitalism — To Americans, the free enterprise system. To Communists, a system in which a few property holders have absolute rights, make the laws to please themselves and maximize their profits, and exploit the toiling masses.

Democracy—To Americans, lawful government of the people, by the people, and for the people. To Communists, a one-party system is consistent with the "higher type" Communist democracy really is capitalist dictatorship.

Imperialism — In Western usage, empire building. To Communists, military occupation, denial of democracy, and economic exploitation by the Soviet Union of Eastern European nations is "liberation" and imperialism is exploitation of colored people.

Possony says that although the average American cannot devote himself to interpreting Communist language, he should exercise "eternal vigilance based on profound skepticism."

Also, he says, Americans should "insist that our decision makers become fully aware of semantic trickery and clarify for the American people the real meaning of Communist doubletalk."

Asteroid Bomb Would Shatter A Continent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The grim concept of an asteriod bomb—a continent-shattering weapon produced by diverting a tiny planet from its orbit so it would strike the earth—was introduced today by a space scientist.

Dandridge M. Cole of General Electric's missile and space vehicle department said such a cataclysmic weapon might be developed sometime after 1970.

The theory involves using a Nova-class rocket to carry a crew of men or remotely controlled devices to one of the "close-approach" asteroids whose orbits sometimes carry them between the earth and the planet Mars.

The idea would be to explode a number of hydrogen bombs on the surface of the asteroid in such a way that the tiny planet would be kicked out of its orbit and pushed toward the earth—striking with the force of several million megaton-type H-bombs.

In a report prepared for the eighth annual meeting of the American Astronautical Society, Cole said: "The energy release at impact on the earth would be on the order of 1,000 times as great as the energy of a multi-megaton bomb which could be carried by the same Nova-class vehicle on an ICBM trajectory to the same target.

"This unusual weapon system shares with the biological weapons the possibility for masquerading as a natural catastrophe. The attacker could hope to escape blame and retribution from surviving retaliation forces."

He said that while such an irrevelent meddling with cosmic forces may seem highly implausible or even impossible on superficial examination," such a system should be feasible

Cole said: "If it is assumed that the Russians would like to obliterate the United States and run little risk of retaliation, then they would reasonably consider the use of a close-approach asteroid for this purpose."

Ichthyologist Dies

SANTA CRUZ (AP)—Dr. Albert W. Herre, 93, world-known for his studies of fish life and lichens, died Tuesday at his home here.

Dr. Herre formerly was curator emeritus of the ichthyological (fish life) collection at Stanford University.

He did administrative and research work in the Philippine Islands in the mid-1920s and later.

Surrenders To FBI

MIAMI (UPI)—Francis Laverne Brennan, one of the FBI's 10 most wanted men, surrendered last night.

The FBI said Brennan, wanted on a murder charge in Illinois, called the agency from a downtown service station and said, "Come and get me. I'm tired of running from the FBI."

Brennan is charged with the shotgun slaying of Mrs. Estella Agann, a Rushville, Ill., widow, in October, 1961.

Mays Divorce Suit

JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — The wife of San Francisco Giants baseball star Willie Mays, Scarlett Wendell Mays, has filed for a Mexican divorce, charging incompatibility.

She appeared before Civil Court Judge Carlos Uranga Munoz yesterday to file the petition.

The petition said the couple separated Sept. 26, 1961, that a property settlement had been reached and that Mays had agreed to the divorce.

Mrs. Mays asked for custody of their adopted son, Michael, 2. Her attorney said Mays had agreed to an undisclosed alimony and support for the boy.

Cleared In Anti-Trust

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Four officials of General Motors Corp. have been cleared of anti-trust charges by a federal court.

They had been indicted along with the parent company and various Chevrolet organizations. The government accused the defendants of refusing to sell new cars to discount houses. The charges were dismissed yesterday on grounds that the counts were defective.

The officials cleared were: K. E. Staley, general sales manager for Chevrolet; L. N. Mays, Staley's assistant, and Robert O'Conner, Los Angeles zone manager for G.M.

Red Prisoners Home

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two American college students who spent four months as prisoners in Communist East Germany agree on this: "Conditions in East Germany were awful. The younger generation doesn't want to live there."

Victor Pankey and Gilbert Ferrey, both 20, of nearby Tustin, flew in last night from London with Pankey's father, Edgar, and Ferrey's mother, Mary Ferrey.

The students had been sentenced to two years for trying to smuggle a 22-year-old girl student to West Germany but were released early without explanation. The girl is still in prison, Pankey said.

Probe Of Massacre

LEOPOLDVILLE (UPI) — The United Nations is leaving in Congolese hands investigations into the reported massacre of 19 Roman Catholic priests at Kongolo, North Katanga, a U.N. source said today.

In Elisabethville, Roman Catholic Archbishop Joseph F. Cornelis cabled President John F. Kennedy, Queen Elizabeth II of England and other world leaders demanding immediate punishment for those responsible for the killings.

The U.N. source in Leopoldville said the U.N. considered the incident an internal Congolese affair and that Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula wanted to handle it himself.

New Low-Cost Medical Plan Is Revealed

CHICAGO (AP)—A new low-cost medical and surgical insurance plan for the aged has been announced by Blue Shield, a nationwide insurance program, and the American Medical Assn.

The plan, announced yesterday, would provide benefits for all persons over 65 for as low as three dollars a month. It must be approved and worked out by the 69 Blue Shield affiliates and local and county medical groups.

The AMA said it is recommending that all state medical societies cooperate fully with their local Blue Shield affiliates to put the plan into operation as soon as possible.

First reaction from a few officials of medical groups was generally in favor of the program.

The proposal, with one agreed upon less than two weeks ago by the American Hospital Assn. and the Blue Cross Assn., completes organized medicine's answer to the president's plan to place health care for the aged under Social Security.

The AHA and Blue Cross agreed on a private hospitalization plan for retired persons over 65—to cost $10 to $12 per person per month—under which the federal government would be asked to pay the premiums for all those unable to do so.

The principle of ability to pay, with the most assistance to the needy, is involved in both plans.

Dominican Junta Seems Army Takeover set fire to a school and stoned police cars.

Many stores were closed in the Dominican capital and small knots of Dominicans gathered along the palm-lined seawall drive. Many said they were expecting U.S. Navy ships to appear offshore, as they did last Nov. 19 when Rodriquez Echavarria led the air force uprising that chased the last of the Trujillos out of the country.

In a brief radio address, Bogaert appealed to Dominicans for order "so that a preliminary basis can be established for effective democracy." He promised plans would be drawn up for elections but mentioned no dates. The previous state council had set February 1963 as the date for a freely elected government to take over the country.

The junta announced it would act with "utmost celerity and patriotism" in establishing what it called true democracy in the Dominican Republic. Then it imposed censorship on the press, radio, TV, telephones, telegrams and cables and banned strikes or any interference with normal work operations.

College Of Marin May Soon Get Planetarium

College of Marin may soon be equipped with a planetarium, it was disclosed last night at a meeting of college trustees, faculty and architects.

The planetarium would be included in the $629,640 total cost of new science facilities. Seating capacity would be about 80.

The trustees will hear further architectural reports later.

Also discussed were physical education facilities estimated at $926,213, including gymnasium, swimming pool, locker room, offices and class rooms.

Presenting cost and space reports was Wesley Hull of the architectural firm of Falk and Booth.

A similar meeting will be held today at 7:30 p.m. in room 24 on the campus. Taken up by the architects tonight will be the student center, music and speech facilities.

Edison At College? No, Expert Says

NEW YORK (AP)—If Thomas A. Edison were starting anew today, how would he do in college.

Dr. Carroll V. Newsom doubts Edison could even get into a modern engineering school.

"He wasn't a theoretical man," said Newsom, a veteran educator who retired Jan. 1 as president of New York University.

Newsom isn't too happy about what he considers an undue emphasis placed today on development of theoreticians.

He feels that the old "trial and error" method is still valuable, too, and oughtn't to be discouraged. "We're short on people who can 'play with hard-ware,' " he said.

These and some other tartly stated beliefs were voiced by Newsom in an interview just before taking ar new job as a vice president of Prentice-Hall, which publishes educational books.

Among the beliefs:

College today should be fitted to the student, rather than the student to the college. Tailor the teaching to the capability of the individual student, rather than force him to struggle through a traditional curriculum devised long ago and including courses the student doesn't need or want.

Ninety per cent of today's youngsters are fully capable of doing college work, and ought to have a chance. Many educators put the top figure at 30 per cent. Actually, only about 5 per cent now attend.

Parents should quit giving their children allowances and insist that they work for their spending money.

Youngsters themselves should be able ot pay from one-half to two-thirds of the cost of their college education.

The time to statr getting a boy or girl ready for college is at the age of nine.

Education has all but ignored something the nation needs the most. That is training for people to think ahead, far ahead; to peer into the future and anticipate what man's needs will be. Thus the foundation can be laid now for providing them.

Newsom, nearing 58, has served 10 years at NYU, five as president. Before that he was associate commissioner of education for New York State, head of the mathematics department at Oberlin College in Ohio and held a similar post at the University of New Mexico.

A Juror's Damaged Teeth Hold Up Damage Suit Trial

A woman juror, who said she had to have her broken teeth repaired by a dentist, held up a jury trial before Marin Superior Judge Richard M. Sims all this morning.

The case is an auto accident damage suit, in which John Joseph and Beulah Fleming of San Francisco are suing for damages. The accident occurred near Sonora in 1960.

According to court attaches, Mrs. Aline McClain of Alto, a member of the jury, called this morning to report she could not be in court because she needs dental care.

Lawyers, other jurors and both parties to the suit waited all morning in the courthouse. Trial was expected to resume this afternoon.

WEST END BID FOR LOT IS REJECTED

Mrs. Esther E. Henley yesterday rejected a San Rafael Elementary School District offer of $21,500 for her lot at 1841 Fifth Avenue, adjacent to West End School, and was presented a second offer to consider until next Tuesday.

The board noted that appraiser Roy Farrington Jones had listed furniture in a house on the property as valued at $1,700, in addition to $21,500 for the real estate. A second offer was made based on this appraisal.

The board seeks the land for expansion of the crowded West End School playground. Mrs. Henley's lot is 64 feet wide.

Kindergarten Sent By Mail

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—A correspondence course now is available for kindergarten.

It's a kit, including four activity books, instructions to parents for handwork projects, coloring and preliminary exercises to prepare for learning to read and a calendar on which youngsters can chart the weather.

Art Plows, director of the elementary correspondence school of the British Columbia education department, said, "We are not in the business and we have not publicized the service, but between 80 and 100 kits were issued to people who inquired last year.

The kit originally was designed for children in remote areas whose older brothers and sisters were going to school by taking correspondence courses.

Designs Churches For People

VANCOUVER (AP)—Churches, like homes, should be designed for those who live in them, says architect William Wilding.

Color, light, fabric and the use of appropriate wood can induce a worshipful response on the part of the churchgoer, just as a well-planned home gives a sense of warmth and security to a family, he says.

Wilding says the order of service of the church should have an effect on the design of the building:

"Some denominations require a church that could almost be classed as an auditorium, others with a strong emphasis on liturgy require focusing of the main attention on the chancel and the minister."

Chairman Elected By Strawberry Recreation Unit

C. G. Bush was elected chairman last night of the newly organized Strawberry Recreation District. Bush had been in the same position, but was called president, on the old board.

The board adopted a resolution adopting, ratifying and confirming all lawful acts and actions of prior governing boards of the district. It also instructed attorney, S. H. Kaufmann, to draw up a lease with the proposed Strawberry Corporation to build a swimming pool on the recreation site.

WEST END BID FOR LOT IS REJECTED

Mrs. Esther E. Henley yesterday rejected a San Rafael Elementary School District offer of $21,500 for her lot at 1841 Fifth Avenue, adjacent to West End School, and was presented a second offer to consider until next Tuesday.

The board noted that appraiser Roy Farrington Jones had listed furniture in a house on the property as valued at $1,700, in addition to $21,500 for the real estate. A second offer was made based on this appraisal.

The board seeks the land for expansion of the crowded West End School playground. Mrs. Henley's lot is 64 feet wide.

Edison At College? No, Expert Says

NEW YORK (AP)—If Thomas A. Edison were starting anew today, how would he do in college.

Dr. Carroll V. Newsom doubts Edison could even get into a modern engineering school.

"He wasn't a theoretical man," said Newsom, a veteran educator who retired Jan. 1 as president of New York University.

Newsom isn't too happy about what he considers an undue emphasis placed today on development of theoreticians.

He feels that the old "trial and error" method is still valuable, too, and oughtn't to be discouraged. "We're short on people who can 'play with hard-ware,' " he said.

These and some other tartly stated beliefs were voiced by Newsom in an interview just before taking ar new job as a vice president of Prentice-Hall, which publishes educational books.

Among the beliefs:

College today should be fitted to the student, rather than the student to the college. Tailor the teaching to the capability of the individual student, rather than force him to struggle through a traditional curriculum devised long ago and including courses the student doesn't need or want.

Ninety per cent of today's youngsters are fully capable of doing college work, and ought to have a chance. Many educators put the top figure at 30 per cent. Actually, only about 5 per cent now attend.

Parents should quit giving their children allowances and insist that they work for their spending money.

Youngsters themselves should be able ot pay from one-half to two-thirds of the cost of their college education.

The time to statr getting a boy or girl ready for college is at the age of nine.

Education has all but ignored something the nation needs the most. That is training for people to think ahead, far ahead; to peer into the future and anticipate what man's needs will be. Thus the foundation can be laid now for providing them.

Newsom, nearing 58, has served 10 years at NYU, five as president. Before that he was associate commissioner of education for New York State, head of the mathematics department at Oberlin College in Ohio and held a similar post at the University of New Mexico.

Kindergarten Sent By Mail

VICTORIA, B.C. (AP)—A correspondence course now is available for kindergarten.

It's a kit, including four activity books, instructions to parents for handwork projects, coloring and preliminary exercises to prepare for learning to read and a calendar on which youngsters can chart the weather.

Art Plows, director of the elementary correspondence school of the British Columbia education department, said, "We are not in the business and we have not publicized the service, but between 80 and 100 kits were issued to people who inquired last year.

The kit originally was designed for children in remote areas whose older brothers and sisters were going to school by taking correspondence courses.

Teacher Will Visit Elementary Schools

A Juror's Damaged Teeth Hold Up Damage Suit Trial

A woman juror, who said she had to have her broken teeth repaired by a dentist, held up a jury trial before Marin Superior Judge Richard M. Sims all this morning.

The case is an auto accident damage suit, in which John Joseph and Beulah Fleming of San Francisco are suing for damages. The accident occurred near Sonora in 1960.

According to court attaches, Mrs. Aline McClain of Alto, a member of the jury, called this morning to report she could not be in court because she needs dental care.

Lawyers, other jurors and both parties to the suit waited all morning in the courthouse. Trial was expected to resume this afternoon.

Stravinsky To Be White House Guest

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy, starting a new year full of glittering social-cultural events at the White House, entertain famed Russian-born composer Igor Stravinsky tonight.

The Kennedys have invited probably less than 20 guests to the dinner in honor of the composer of the ballets "The Firebird" and "The Rites of Spring" and his wife tonight.

In the past year, the Kennedys have made the president's mansion a mecca for artists and musicians. Many great names of the creative world are as much at home at the White House now as elite politicians have been in the past.

The 1962 social calendar calls for at least three more musical programs for children and night life spotlighting poets, artists and composers.

The scholar Pliny recorded the first known application of aluminum salts for treating ulcers.

'Dr. Tom Dooley Day' Urged By Christopher

Mayor George Christopher is asking San Franciscans to consider today as Dr. Tom Dooley Day in "memory of his life's dedication to the service of others."

In a message to the Dr. Thomas Dooley Foundation, which was founded in San Francisco last fall, Christopher expressed his sincere wish for the continued success of the late doctor's mission of medical care for the ill and friendless of other countries.

"I am well aware," the mayor said, "that Dr. Dooley's goal was that of helping man to help himself. It was a belief which people of all faiths could embrace. It also is a program which all can now continue to support."

Designation of Dr. Tom Dooley Day, Christopher added, "is a fitting tribute from San Franciscans to one who worked for human health and welfare without regard to race, color or creed."

Other tributes also were paid to the young doctor on the first anniversary of his death.

Mayor Robert Wagner of New York proclaimed today as "Dr. Tom Dooley Day" and a memorial mass was celebrated at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York City. Among the celebrants was Laos ambassador to the United Nations Sisouk Na Champassak, whose government had posthumously honored Dr. Dooley with the rank of grand officer of the Order of the Million Elephants and the White Parasol.

The Dooley Foundation was founded in San Francisco last fall with author Eugene Burdick as president and Dr. Verne E. Chaney as executive field director. The foundation has its headquarters at 442 Post Street, in San Francisco.

PROPER GREETINGS AT PEACE CORPS MEETING

Chief Chiesa Repeats Plea For Two Men

San Rafael city councilmen met with Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa yesterday at the city hall to discuss personnel problems in the police department; but Chiesa said the only problem is that he needs two more men.

The council Tuesday night turned down the elected police chief's request for two more officers, holding that no emergency was shown which would justify exceeding the budget for police salaries. Mayor John F. McInnis called the meeting yesterday, he said, to find out whether a possible emergency existed because of several officers leaving the force recently. Chiesa assured the council, however, that no problem exists—but the additional men are still needed to increase patrolling.

The councilmen stuck with their decision of Tuesday against considering the request for more officers until budgeting time for fiscal 1963.

DINNER COST KING . . . OH, SAY, $20,000

BOSTON (UPI)—Banquet fit for a king and 45 select guests costs more than the food an average American family buys in a decade.

That was the rough estimate made today by a hotel official, who preferred to remain unidentified, following a sumptuous feast given last night for King Saud of Saudi Arabia.

The dinner, served on a gold setting valued at $50,000, probably cost in excess of $20,000 including the decorations, he said. The six courses were served by 25 gold-jacketed waiters.

$170,000 Suit Filed In Highway Accident Death

A damage suit asking $170,000 was filed in Marin Superior Court yesterday for a Sonoma painter who was killed in a traffic pileup near Puerto Suello Hill last Dec. 26.

Carl Frank Bolin, 53, of Sonoma died of injuries suffered in the crash. His widow, Frances, and his mother, Cora C. Craddock, are suing the driver of one of the other cars, Beryld Heiney of Santa Rosa, a Navy hospital corpsman.

The suit alleges that Heiney was driving south along Highway 101 in the wrong lane, and his negligence caused the death of Bolin.

The widow seeks $150,000 damages, and the mother $20,000.

School Candidate Hall Tells Advantages Of Unification

Dr. Wallace W. Hall last night outlined advantages of school district unification in California, calling such reorganization a "problem that has caused much study and controversy."

Hall, a candidate for state superintendent of public instruction, told the combined gathering of Kentfield School District Parent-Teacher Assn. units that the policy set by the state legislature is to encourage school district reorganization through local study and local approval by election.

He said the state board of education hopes that such reorganization to form unified districts may result in:

1. More effective coordination among the schools taking a child from kindergarten through 12th grade.

2. More efficient use of public funds through the school district's operating at "more reasonable unit costs."

3. Better and more equal opportunity for all students by providing the curriculum or special services not possible in smaller districts.

4. Equalization of resources of one local area throughout the district.

Hall said unification, which he explained was the forming of a school district including elementary and high schools, does not necessarily result in saving money.

"We do believe that the public will get more for its money under a unified program, but do not contend that total dollars will be saved by such a change," said Hall, who is currently associate superintendent of public instruction and for seven years was Marin County superintendent of schools. He said that through unification less money would be spent on administrative costs and more would be available for the instructional program.

He said that unification would result in more freedom to develop guidance counseling coordinated through a child's entire school career, that administrative and transportation overlaps would be eliminated, and that curriculum, building use and special classes could be tailored to the particular district's needs, with increased flexibility.

Hall said school district unification can lead to greater local control. When a district is strong enough to meet its problems and needs, the state and county boards of education will happily leave it alone, he declared.

"The higher levels step in when something is seriously wrong or inefficient. When you have strong local districts they gain the freedom from higher level control," he said.

He called the state's master plan on school district organization a measure making it "mandatory that counties study the problem, not mandatory that they form unified school districts." He lauded the Marin Committee on School District Organization as "doing a conscientious job," citing the unifications forming the Reed School District, Novato Unified District and West Marin District and the proposal to unify San Jose and Novato Districts, thrice rejected by the voters.)

Hall said the state master plan of school district organization provides that each county committee must study unification possibilities in areas of more than 1,500 and submit a county plan to the state board of education by Sept. 15, 1963 which may provide plans for unified and/or union school districts. Then within two years the county superintendent of schools must call a local election in each district for voters to decide to adopt unification or unionization by a majority vote. If the vote fails there is no provision for further action as the plan is now, Hall stated.

Portable Television Taken From Motel

Theft of a portable television from a room in the Bermuda Palms Motel was reported to San Rafael police early today.

Marryann Haering, who lives at the motel, said the set was taken from the room of J. D. Sumner, bartender, another resident, apparently removed through an unlocked window. Still another motel resident, bartender William Sheehan, owned the set, she told police.

Larkspur To Take Up Drainage Problem

The Larkspur City Council last night decided to take up the drainage problem in Hillview Gardens next month after the city engineer told councilmen the cost would be possibly $2,500.

City Engineer Beverly Whitlow reported puddles of water remaining in the streets because of bad drainage. He said Tulane and Dartmouth drives and a portion of Harbor Drive present the worst problems.

Whitlow suggested more catch basins. He said five basins would be needed, plus several hundred feet of six and eight-inch pipe.

He suggested the council budget the repair work on a "piece-meal basis."

Councilmen chose to hold up action and take up the matter again at the Feb. 7 meeting.

The council was presented with three new candidates for the current vacancy on the planning commission, running the total of eligibles up to four.

The new candidates, as read from letters to the council by City Clerk Isabelle Moore, are Howard McGill, draftsman of 236 Monte Vista Avenue; E. J. O'Grady, civil engineer of 370 North Almenar Drive, and William P. Schnell, insurance salesman and member of the Larkspur Recreation Commission, of 300 William Avenue.

Already being considered was Michael Kaplan, architect, of 38 Millrod Road.

The councilmen voted to send the new names to the planning commission for its recommendation, to be reported to the Feb. 7 council meeting.

In other business, the council:

1. Put over until Feb. 7 adoption of an ordinance rezoning of the west side of Magnolia Avenue from the Elite Rug Cleaners to the old Escalle winery property from commercial to apartments; and adopting the uniform building, plumbing and electrical codes.
2. Instructed City Manager Ronald E. Piper to send for the proposed contract for the state retirement system for city employees.
3. Agreed to meet with sanitary district directors on Feb. 14 to discuss possible new sewage lines in parts of the city.
4. Instructed Piper to write the Larkspur Womens Club thanking it for donation of $250 worth of trees to the city.
5. Adjourned until next Wednesday at which time L. L. Purkey, Larkspur resident and former councilman, will discuss city manager type of local government and whether the city clerk and city treasurer should be elected or appointed. The public forum is scheduled for 8 p.m. in the city hall.

Student Pilot Who Crashed Hill Gets Fine

John Rinaldo Torre, 32, a student pilot from Daly City who crashed a Cessna 140 into an Inverness hillside last April has drawn six months probation and $52.50 fine for reckless flying.

Judge Leonard A. Thomas of Marin Municipal Court sentenced Torre for violating a section of the public utilities code in operating an aircraft in a careless and reckless manner. The plane hit Vision Ridge on the Ottinger Ranch near Inverness on the evening of April 30. Torre walked away with scratches, but the plane was demolished.

Torre reported to the judge that he had paid about $3,000 for loss of the plane, and he had been grounded by the Civil Aeronautics Administration for six months.

Chief Chiesa Repeats Plea For Two Men

San Rafael city councilmen met with Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa yesterday at the city hall to discuss personnel problems in the police department; but Chiesa said the only problem is that he needs two more men.

The council Tuesday night turned down the elected police chief's request for two more officers, holding that no emergency was shown which would justify exceeding the budget for police salaries. Mayor John F. McInnis called the meeting yesterday, he said, to find out whether a possible emergency existed because of several officers leaving the force recently. Chiesa assured the council, however, that no problem exists—but the additional men are still needed to increase patrolling.

GOLF SHOP PLANS APPROVED

The Mill Valley City Council approved plans last night for an addition of two restrooms, with a deck atop, for the golf pro shop at the municipal golf course. Cost is expected to be about $2,000 should city forces assist in construction. The addition, designed by Mill Valley architect J. Lubicz-Nycz, is to be screened by planting.

Mill Valley Is Now Neutral On Tunnel

The Mill Valley City Council switched to a "neutral" position last night on abandonment of Northwestern Pacific Railroad's Puerto Suello tunnel service to San Rafael.

The council earlier had voted to back the City of San Rafael in its fight against the abandonment. Last night, after hearing Carl Olsen of Oakland, public relations officer of Northwestern Pacific, it changed to a "neutral" position.

Olsen offered the City of Mill Valley a quid pro quo. He said the railroad would not oppose a crossing for the Sycamore extension in connection with Mill Valley's small craft harbor.

The council authorized City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to call for bids, to be opened March 14, for dredging of the small craft harbor basin and the Arroyo Corte Madera Presidio Channel extension. It also heard C. G. Robertson praise Charles Guichard for his work in starting and working on the drive for the harbor.

The Mill Valley Council also:

1. Congratulated city library trustees and personnel on the library's winning the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Library Award and voted to appropriate $250 to be used in an award ceremony in April.

2. Accepted the resignation of Councilman George Blackwell as vice mayor. He said he is taking a European trip to leave Feb. 5 and return in April. Joseph E. Sheeks was appointed vice mayor.

3. Appointed Dean M. Meyer of 30 Sarah Drive to succeed William Lovvorn on the parks and recreation commission.

4. Introduced ordinances to annex to the city nine parcels of land on Country Club Drive and about 25 acres in the yacht harbor area, land owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., the Biggios and the city.

5. Adopted a sewer ordinance and city standards for sanitary sewers.

6. Heard a request from Police Chief Dan Terzich that all bicycles be licensed and decided to take it up when the council meets Feb. 20 with Mill Valley School District trustees.

7. Appointed two woman assistants in the police department as police officers and granted them a uniform allowance. The woman, Rae Menzies and Audrey Gosser, are on a volunteer basis without salary.

8. Agreed to call for bids for two passenger cars and a pickup truck to be used by administrative personnel. The cars are to be compacts.

9. Adjourned in memory of Richard Lannert Iglehart, former chairman of the planning commission, who died Saturday.

WASHINGTON, Ark. (AP) — Jonathan McFadden's car went to church, but he went to jail. McFadden, 35, missed a curve and drove his car into a small Baptist church in this south Arkansas town.

The car ripped a gaping hole in a wall and plowed up several rows of pews.

McFadden was arrested for drunken driving. The church suspended services.

JOSEPH E. SHEEKS

Councilman Sheeks Seeks Re-Election

Mill Valley City Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks announced last night he will run for re-election in the April 10 election.

Sheeks, an attorney with industrial Indemnity Co., is completing his first four-year term. Prior to that he served four months of the unexpired term of T. J. DeLasaux.

Sheeks, who is liaison to the Mill Valley Library Board, lives at 21 Monte Vista Avenue.

The second council position to be at stake in the election is that of Mayor Robert D. Huber, who has announced he will not run.

Nomination papers for councilman may be filed commencing Jan 25 at the city hall. Closing date is Feb. 15.

CHANCE TO PROTEST ROAD WORK GIVEN

Larkspur Residents Of Sunrise, Marina Vista Against High Cost

Residents of Marina Vista Avenue and Sunrise Lane in Larkspur will have another chance to protest costs of repairs to Marina Vista, the Larkspur City Council decided last night.

Although the road work will be only on Marina Vista Avenue, residents of Sunrise Lane would bear part of the cost of the assessment district because they use Marina Vista Avenue as access to their street.

At a public hearing last night, the council found that four bids for the road work were all higher than the costs estimated by former City Engineer John C. Oglesby.

Low bid was by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael at $15,996. The bids ranged as high as $21,939, by Siri Co. of Santa Rosa. The Oglesby's estimate was $14,295. He said that if the low bid were accepted, it would push the total figure close to $20,000.

Because of the rise in costs, the council continued the hearing until Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. to allow residents to express their views.

One letter of protest was read last night, from Jeremy J. Merrill of 23 Sunrise Lane. Mrs. Merrill and Malcom G. Smith of 160 Marina Vista Avenue were on hand at the meeting to protest high costs.

Vitamin B-1 Aids Research

SUMMIT, N. J. (AP)—The scientist who discovered Vitamin B-1, then relinquished his rights to the discovery, says: "I have no regrets. It was never my purpose to make money on it."

Since 1936, seven million dollars in royalties have been disbursed by the Research Corporation of New York to universities and other nonprofit organizations for research into problems of nutrition.

Dr. Williams, now retired, discovered the vitamin after 26 years of research into the disease beriberi.

Insect Pest Is Woodcutter

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Nature supplies trees with a pruner all its own. It's an insect pest, known as the twig-pruner, that usually infests oak, elm, hickory, maple and other trees according to Davey tree researchers.

The insect can perform prodigious wood-cutting feats. Two to eight feet long twigs and branches may look as if they had been severed with a knife when a colony of these animate buzz saws swing into action. They are controlled by collecting and burning the severed twigs.

City Council Approves 3-2 Plans For Larkspur Plaza

Larkspur city councilmen last night approved 3-to-2 improvement plans for the Larkspur Plaza Assessment District, but it took two hours of discussion before acceptance.

Along with the acceptance, Robert Monroe, president of Reedland Heights, Inc., developers of the project, conceded a one-year guarantee on the streets. The firm will provide a bond against street slippage. The project will be built on the marshlands area on the east side of Magnolia Avenue, where a threat of street slippage is ever-present.

As the approval seemed to be nearing, councilman Lesly A. Daveler brought up that the street, which will be used for apartment resident traffic, was shown on the improvement map as 24 feet in width. He said Monroe had earlier agreed it would be widened to 34 feet.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper said he thought the street width was to be 34 feet but found this was in error. The planning commission had approved the plans with a street width of 24 feet. He said discussion of the larger width came after commission approval.

Monroe said the road could not be widened except by obtaining adjacent property from Adolph A. Tiscornia, or moving the apartment houses 10 feet to the south.

Mayor Arthur E. Storhaug and Councilmen Neil R. Brixon and Daniel Allen said they felt the street width would not create much of a problem considering the amount of traffic involved.

However, Mayor Storhaug joined Daveler in voting against approval of the plans. He said he felt the developers should provide some longer guarantee of street maintenance than the one-year bond. The plans were approved by votes of Councilmen Allen, Brizon and James E. Lienkaemper.

GOLF SHOP PLANS APPROVED

The Mill Valley City Council approved plans last night for an addition of two restrooms, with a deck atop, for the golf pro shop at the municipal golf course. Cost is expected to be about $2,000 should city forces assist in construction. The addition, designed by Mill Valley architect J. Lubicz-Nycz, is to be screened by planting.

Mill Valley Is Now Neutral On Tunnel

The Mill Valley City Council switched to a "neutral" position last night on abandonment of Northwestern Pacific Railroad's Puerto Suello tunnel service to San Rafael.

The council earlier had voted to back the City of San Rafael in its fight against the abandonment. Last night, after hearing Carl Olsen of Oakland, public relations officer of Northwestern Pacific, it changed to a "neutral" position.

Olsen offered the City of Mill Valley a quid pro quo. He said the railroad would not oppose a crossing for the Sycamore extension in connection with Mill Valley's small craft harbor.

The council authorized City Engineer Stanley M. Bala to call for bids, to be opened March 14, for dredging of the small craft harbor basin and the Arroyo Corte Madera Presidio Channel extension. It also heard C. G. Robertson praise Charles Guichard for his work in starting and working on the drive for the harbor.

The Mill Valley Council also:

1. Congratulated city library trustees and personnel on the library's winning the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Library Award and voted to appropriate $250 to be used in an award ceremony in April.

2. Accepted the resignation of Councilman George Blackwell as vice mayor. He said he is taking a European trip to leave Feb. 5 and return in April. Joseph E. Sheeks was appointed vice mayor.

3. Appointed Dean M. Meyer of 30 Sarah Drive to succeed William Lovvorn on the parks and recreation commission.

4. Introduced ordinances to annex to the city nine parcels of land on Country Club Drive and about 25 acres in the yacht harbor area, land owned by Pacific Gas and Electric Co., the Biggios and the city.

5. Adopted a sewer ordinance and city standards for sanitary sewers.

6. Heard a request from Police Chief Dan Terzich that all bicycles be licensed and decided to take it up when the council meets Feb. 20 with Mill Valley School District trustees.

7. Appointed two woman assistants in the police department as police officers and granted them a uniform allowance. The woman, Rae Menzies and Audrey Gosser, are on a volunteer basis without salary.

8. Agreed to call for bids for two passenger cars and a pickup truck to be used by administrative personnel. The cars are to be compacts.

9. Adjourned in memory of Richard Lannert Iglehart, former chairman of the planning commission, who died Saturday.

Sunday Driver Lands In Jail

WASHINGTON, Ark. (AP) — Jonathan McFadden's car went to church, but he went to jail. McFadden, 35, missed a curve and drove his car into a small Baptist church in this south Arkansas town.

The car ripped a gaping hole in a wall and plowed up several rows of pews.

McFadden was arrested for drunken driving. The church suspended services.

Ski Sales Up

NEW YORK (UPI)—Total sales of ski clothing and equipment during last season totaled about 35 million dollars, or 31 per cent more than in the preceding year, according to Ski Industries of America. Indications are that sales this season will top this figure.

JOSEPH E. SHEEKS

Councilman Sheeks Seeks Re-Election

Mill Valley City Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks announced last night he will run for re-election in the April 10 election.

Sheeks, an attorney with industrial Indemnity Co., is completing his first four-year term. Prior to that he served four months of the unexpired term of T. J. DeLasaux.

Sheeks, who is liaison to the Mill Valley Library Board, lives at 21 Monte Vista Avenue.

The second council position to be at stake in the election is that of Mayor Robert D. Huber, who has announced he will not run.

Nomination papers for councilman may be filed commencing Jan 25 at the city hall. Closing date is Feb. 15.

CHANCE TO PROTEST ROAD WORK GIVEN

Larkspur Residents Of Sunrise, Marina Vista Against High Cost

Residents of Marina Vista Avenue and Sunrise Lane in Larkspur will have another chance to protest costs of repairs to Marina Vista, the Larkspur City Council decided last night.

Although the road work will be only on Marina Vista Avenue, residents of Sunrise Lane would bear part of the cost of the assessment district because they use Marina Vista Avenue as access to their street.

At a public hearing last night, the council found that four bids for the road work were all higher than the costs estimated by former City Engineer John C. Oglesby.

Low bid was by Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael at $15,996. The bids ranged as high as $21,939, by Siri Co. of Santa Rosa. The Oglesby's estimate was $14,295. He said that if the low bid were accepted, it would push the total figure close to $20,000.

Because of the rise in costs, the council continued the hearing until Feb. 7 at 8 p.m. to allow residents to express their views.

One letter of protest was read last night, from Jeremy J. Merrill of 23 Sunrise Lane. Mrs. Merrill and Malcom G. Smith of 160 Marina Vista Avenue were on hand at the meeting to protest high costs.

Vitamin B-1 Aids Research

SUMMIT, N. J. (AP)—The scientist who discovered Vitamin B-1, then relinquished his rights to the discovery, says: "I have no regrets. It was never my purpose to make money on it."

Since 1936, seven million dollars in royalties have been disbursed by the Research Corporation of New York to universities and other nonprofit organizations for research into problems of nutrition.

Dr. Williams, now retired, discovered the vitamin after 26 years of research into the disease beriberi.

Insect Pest Is Woodcutter

KENT, Ohio (UPI) — Nature supplies trees with a pruner all its own. It's an insect pest, known as the twig-pruner, that usually infests oak, elm, hickory, maple and other trees according to Davey tree researchers.

The insect can perform prodigious wood-cutting feats. Two to eight feet long twigs and branches may look as if they had been severed with a knife when a colony of these animate buzz saws swing into action. They are controlled by collecting and burning the severed twigs.

City Council Approves 3-2 Plans For Larkspur Plaza

Larkspur city councilmen last night approved 3-to-2 improvement plans for the Larkspur Plaza Assessment District, but it took two hours of discussion before acceptance.

Along with the acceptance, Robert Monroe, president of Reedland Heights, Inc., developers of the project, conceded a one-year guarantee on the streets. The firm will provide a bond against street slippage. The project will be built on the marshlands area on the east side of Magnolia Avenue, where a threat of street slippage is ever-present.

As the approval seemed to be nearing, councilman Lesly A. Daveler brought up that the street, which will be used for apartment resident traffic, was shown on the improvement map as 24 feet in width. He said Monroe had earlier agreed it would be widened to 34 feet.

City Manager Ronald E. Piper said he thought the street width was to be 34 feet but found this was in error. The planning commission had approved the plans with a street width of 24 feet. He said discussion of the larger width came after commission approval.

Monroe said the road could not be widened except by obtaining adjacent property from Adolph A. Tiscornia, or moving the apartment houses 10 feet to the south.

Mayor Arthur E. Storhaug and Councilmen Neil R. Brixon and Daniel Allen said they felt the street width would not create much of a problem considering the amount of traffic involved.

However, Mayor Storhaug joined Daveler in voting against approval of the plans. He said he felt the developers should provide some longer guarantee of street maintenance than the one-year bond. The plans were approved by votes of Councilmen Allen, Brizon and James E. Lienkaemper.

Auto Executive In Near Fight Over Strike

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI) —A judge today granted a one-week continuance of disorderly conduct charges against the president of the strikebound Studebaker-Packard Corp. and a picket who works for him. Both were accused of picket-line scuffling.

Studebaker President Sherwood H. Egbert, 41, a former Marine and one-time college track star, did not appear in Judge Lloyd H. Allen's South Bend court. One of the pickets at his plant had charged that Egbert doffed his coat yesterday and offered to fight strikers who halted his car at the plant gates and demanded to see his pass.

Egbert's Attorney, Joseph A. Roper, asked for a continuance to Jan. 25 because Egbert was leaving tonight for a one-week trip to Europe. Allen granted the request.

Allen granted a similar request by the attorney for Daniel A. Johnson, 41, a picket accused by a policeman of resisting him as officers tried to clear a path for Egbert's car. Judge Allen set the hearing for Jan. 25.

Texas Was Once A Poor State

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Finances of the Republic of Texas were so low in 1840 that the government's paper money was worth only 16 cents on the dollar.

That was under President Mirabeau B. Lamar, who ordered the printing of nearly three million dollars in bills. The money was called "redbacks" because of the red ink used. The $5 note had a picture of an Indian on the face.

President Anson Jones proclaimed a return to gold and silver standards upon his election in 1844 and annexation by the United States the next year assured a stable economy for Texas.

Hub, Sleepy Hollow To Talk On Fire Costs

Date for a meeting between San Anselmo officials and the Sleepy Hollow Fire District Commission over fire protection costs will be discussed at city council meeting next Tuesday night, Mayor Carleton G. Little said today.

A meeting sought by the council for last night failed to materialize. At issue between the city and the fire commission is sharing of costs of the new fire house built last year on Butterfield Road. San Anselmo provides Sleepy Hollow with fire protection on a contract basis.

Repeat Drunk Driver Given Five Months

Joseph Hayson, 32, of Vallejo must spend five months in Marin County Jail and pay $276 fine for repeatedly driving while intoxicated and while his license was suspended.

Judge Harold J. Haley sentenced Hayson yesterday for drunken driving on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard at White's Hill last Dec. 18. That was the fourth time Hayson has been caught for drunken driving and the fourth time for driving with a suspended license, all since December of 1959.

George Michael LaLumiere, 48, of 623 E. Street, San Rafael, drew five days in jail and $266 fine for his second offense. He was on D Street in San Rafael last Dec. 16. He had a prior conviction in September of 1960.

William Neal Purvine, 44, of 90 Louise Street, San Rafael, must pay $166 fine and remain on six months probation for his first offense. He was caught on D Street in San Rafael last Nov. 5.

The French Academy began writing its ninth dictionary in 1937. It has reached the "Ch" words.

Judge Dims 2 Sausalito Literary Lights—Jail

Two Sausalito literary figures must serve a county jail term beginning tomorrow for their part in a common street brawl last Nov. 28. The third man of letters got off with a fine.

William Harvey Ryan, 33, editor and publisher of Contact magazine; and his co-editor Calvin Brice Kentfield, 37; and poetry editor Norman Anthony Disher, 35, were sentenced yesterday by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Municipal Court.

All three appeared in court with attorney George Walker of San Francisco. Kentfield tossed in the towel and pleaded guilty to disturbing the peace. The judge fined him $26.25 and suspended a 30-day jail sentence.

Ryan and Disher put up a token fight by submitting the case on the basis of Sausalito police reports of the incident. The judge found both guilty of battery. Both drew 30-day suspended jail sentences on condition that Ryan serve this weekend in jail and Disher spend four days in jail.

Sausalito police said they found Ryan and Kentfield grappling on the sidewalk outside No Name Bar. When they tried to stop the fray, Disher joined the fray. Two police officers were hurt during the tussle.

A Good Try, But Buck Out of Luck

WINONA, Minn. (AP) — Three days before the Minnesota deer season opened, a yearling buck leaped a nine-foot fence to gain the safety of a city park enclosure where tame deer are kept.

No soap, though. Game wardens dosed the buck with tranquilizers and turned him back to the wilds.

$10,000 Fire Destroys Home In Homestead

Fire, believed to have been caused by a defective floor heater, destroyed the Mill Valley home of Paul Boucher early today while Boucher and his family were on a visit to Disneyland. Damage was estimated at $10,000 by Homestead Fire Commissioner Carl H. Modell.

Two poodles and an unknown number of puppies were lost in the blaze which also burned a number of redwood trees and endangered the nearby home of Mrs. S. E. Manning at 13 Park Way.

Modell said firemen responded both from Homestead and Tamalpais Valley departments to fight the fire at 11 Park Way. The fire was reported by a neighbor, William Jorgenson of 21 Park Way.

San Rafael Planners Meet Tomorrow On Apartments

San Rafael Planning Commission will meet at E Street School tomorrow at 4 p.m. to discuss apartments—more than 125 units in all.

The commission will take up five requests for architectural approval.

Largest apartment is L. E. Weisenburg's 42-unit Marin Marina Apartments at 220 Canal Streets.

Kaehler-Farrar Development Co. wants architectural approval for a 41-unit apartment at Canal and Larkspur Streets, and a 20-unit building at Canal and Fairfax Streets.

Planners will consider another 20-unit apartment on Professional Center Parkway across the highway from Terra Linda.

Melvin Marlow wants to remodel an existing residence at the northeast corner of Mission and Nye Streets for conversion into two offices and four apartment units.

Comeback In Comics

NEW YORK (UPI)—The comic book publishing business has scored an enormous comeback from the setback it received in the Congressional juvenile delinquency investigations of 1953 and 1954. Two-thirds of the publishers disappeared in a shakeout. But in 1961, sales jumped to about 300 million copies, up 50 million from 1960.

No soap, though. Game wardens dosed the buck with tranquilizers and turned him back to the wilds.

$10,000 Fire Destroys Home In Homestead

Fire, believed to have been caused by a defective floor heater, destroyed the Mill Valley home of Paul Boucher early today while Boucher and his family were on a visit to Disneyland. Damage was estimated at $10,000 by Homestead Fire Commissioner Carl H. Modell.

Two poodles and an unknown number of puppies were lost in the blaze which also burned a number of redwood trees and endangered the nearby home of Mrs. S. E. Manning at 13 Park Way.

Modell said firemen responded both from Homestead and Tamalpais Valley departments to fight the fire at 11 Park Way. The fire was reported by a neighbor, William Jorgenson of 21 Park Way.

San Rafael Planners Meet Tomorrow On Apartments

San Rafael Planning Commission will meet at E Street School tomorrow at 4 p.m. to discuss apartments—more than 125 units in all.

The commission will take up five requests for architectural approval.

Largest apartment is L. E. Weisenburg's 42-unit Marin Marina Apartments at 220 Canal Streets.

Kaehler-Farrar Development Co. wants architectural approval for a 41-unit apartment at Canal and Larkspur Streets, and a 20-unit building at Canal and Fairfax Streets.

Planners will consider another 20-unit apartment on Professional Center Parkway across the highway from Terra Linda.

Melvin Marlow wants to remodel an existing residence at the northeast corner of Mission and Nye Streets for conversion into two offices and four apartment units.

Comeback In Comics

NEW YORK (UPI)—The comic book publishing business has scored an enormous comeback from the setback it received in the Congressional juvenile delinquency investigations of 1953 and 1954. Two-thirds of the publishers disappeared in a shakeout. But in 1961, sales jumped to about 300 million copies, up 50 million from 1960.

was right. The action stands."

Dr. Sereda expressed surprise at the recall movement. He said he was still willing to negotiate. He said he voted against it Tuesday night because he felt such negotiations would be carried on "under duress." He said he felt school employees should have kept out of the discussions with Smith.

He added that any recall election would "bring the dirty linen out on the line."

Christopher Says Recall Move Dirty

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher at his press conference today called the move to recall two members of the Sausalito City Council "a darned dirty thing to do."

A reporter asked the San Francisco mayor for comment about the move for recall of Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. and City Councilman Michael Harris. Christopher said: "This is a sword of Damocles held over responsible office holders which results in good people refusing to run for office. . . It is a darned dirty thing to do."

The result of such "reckless adventures," declared Christopher, is "to keep pipsqueaks in office."

ber's action in endorsing Dr. Schwarz's activities. The far right wing of the Republican party and the far left wing of the Democrat party are two sides of the same coin, both of which spell 'fascism' and each is a threat to our republican form of government and an affront to sensible and responsible citizens of the U.S.

"I trust the Mill Valley City Council will disassociate themselves from the mayor's unilateral action."

Applause rang out.

Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks said the proclamation "shook" him and he was "very leary" about the developments regarding so-called "100 per cent Americanism." Further, he said, "the crusade (of Dr. Schwarz) is more nearly a commercial project."

Councilman Michael Wornum moved the council disclaim the proclamation "because we do not support the methods of the Bay Region School of Anti-Communism. This council will give its full support to any cause which positively supports the virtues of the American way of life."

Wornum said Schwarz's activities "reflect the lunatic fringe of the John Birch Society."

His motion passed 3-0, with Councilman George D. Monardo abstaining. Mayor Huber himself was absent.

Publicists for Dr. Schwarz's school listed 54 Bay Area mayors as having signed the proclamation. Among them, besides Huber, were Mayors John F. McInnis of San Rafael, Albert E. Kogler of Corte Madera, Wayne Womack of Novato, Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. of Sausalito, Carleton G. Little of San Anselmo, Arthur E. Storhaug of Larkspur, Harry C. Scott of Ross and Kenneth M. Edgar of Fairfax.

Mayor Edgar declared today, however, that he did not sign the proclamation because "it didn't seem appropriate for Fairfax."

Mayor McInnis said he had felt reservations about the approach of an emissary who asked him to sign. "He struck me as being as radically right-wing as any of the pinkos I have heard were left-wing," said McInnis. The man, however, told him mayors throughout the Bay Area were signing and "anyone who didn't sign obviously had Communist leanings." McInnis said he read the proclamation, saw nothing wrong with it, and signed.

Mayor Womack said, "I signed it but knew nothing about its source. I'm in favor of anti-communism."

Mayor Scott called it "a good thing."

Mayor Storhaug said: "I signed it just like I would sign a proclamation for Fire Prevention Week. Communism is detrimental, and any school on anti-communism is a good thing."

Mayor Kogler said, "I noticed it had been signed in Larkspur, and it seemed all right to sign it."

Mayor Carleton G. Little said he submitted the proclamation to the San Anselmo City Council and signed with the council's approval.

Only Marin mayor not listed as signing was Dr. Robert V. Watkins of Belvedere. Britton Rey, Belvedere city manager, said that as far as he was aware, the proclamation had not been presented to Mayor Watkins.

JEWELS

of Hayward, said Francis W. Mayer, San Francisco chief assistant district attorney.

Transcript of the jury session disclosed that a prominent San Francisco jeweler was believed to be the brains behind the robberies.

Victims were Mrs. Muriel McKevitt Sonne of 2070 Pacific Avenue and Joseph Glikbarg of 1310 Jones Street. Glikbarg, retired auto dealer, was robbed at his home of $50,000 in jewels on Oct. 6 by a man who posed as a telephone repairman. Mrs. Sonne, daughter of the late civic leader Hugh McKevitt, was robbed of $60,000 in gems on Nov. 15 by a man posing as a police inspector.

Windham, a surprise witness before the jury with Mrs. Leighton, pleaded guilty to two counts of armed robbery and is serving five to life in prison, Mayer said.

Davis was indicted on charges of conspiracy, robbery and receiving stolen property. He is in San Francisco County Jail in lieu of $10,500 bail.

Mrs. Leighton, reportedly estranged from her husband, Chet A. Leighton, said she had become "emotionally involved" with Davis.

She said she drove Windham to and from the Glikbarg robbery. She said that after the robbery she drove Windham in Davis' car to her cleaning shop in San Rafael.

There Davis waited, she testified, and she gave the jewels in a sock to him. She said she was given $1,000 which she gave Windham. She said she received $200 but it was in payment for money owed her by Davis and Windham.

Windham described himself as a victim in the robberies. He said he was a jobless magazine solicitor when Davis approached him and hired him to commit the robberies. He said he got $1,500 for the two hauls.

Mrs. Leighton's overdose of sleeping pills was reported to San Rafael police Tuesday night by Robert C. Harris, a resident of the Carmel Hotel. He said she took the pills in his room.

Mayer would not hint at the identity of the prominent merchant suspected as the brains behind Davis in engineering the robberies, but said, "We are continuing the investigation in an effort to tie in others."

Barnaby Conrad Sued By Wife For Divorce

Barnaby Conrad Jr., 39, author, bullfighter, and restaurateur, was sued for divorce today in Marin Superior Court by his wife, who lives at 18 Leeward Road, Belvedere.

Since their separation last month, Conrad has been living at his San Francisco studio at 22 Darrell Place. He has written several books on bull fighting, produced movies, and made television appearances and written scripts. He owns the El Matador Restaurant in San Francisco.

Mrs. Dale Cowgill Conrad, in her mid-30's, charged him with extreme cruelty and "wrongfully inflicting grevous mental suffering."

A property settlement agreement, reached last Monday, was not disclosed.

His attorney, William A. Bentley of San Francisco, said Conrad will not contest the divorce action. Asked whether Conrad's assets were worth a million dollars, the attorney said, "No, no, nowhere near that." He said the couple reached an "amicable settlement, agreeing on everything," and the holdings were divided up "about half and half."

Mrs. Conrad's lawyer, Henry V. Colby, could not be reached this morning at his office.

The Conrads were married in 1949 at Hillsborough. They have three children, Barnaby III, 9, Cayetana, and Winston Stuart, 5.

Conrad has fought in bull rings in Mexico, Spain, and Peru. In 1958, he was gored by a bull in Madrid. His books include the "Encyclopedia of Bull Fighting" and "The Death of Manolete."

Dr. Sereda expressed surprise at the recall movement. He said he was still willing to negotiate. He said he voted against it Tuesday night because he felt such negotiations would be carried on "under duress." He said he felt school employees should have kept out of the discussions with Smith.

He added that any recall election would "bring the dirty linen out on the line."

Christopher Says Recall Move Dirty

San Francisco Mayor George Christopher at his press conference today called the move to recall two members of the Sausalito City Council "a darned dirty thing to do."

A reporter asked the San Francisco mayor for comment about the move for recall of Mayor Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. and City Councilman Michael Harris. Christopher said: "This is a sword of Damocles held over responsible office holders which results in good people refusing to run for office. . . It is a darned dirty thing to do."

The result of such "reckless adventures," declared Christopher, is "to keep pipsqueaks in office."

7 Marin Mayors Back 'Anti-Communist Week'

ber's action in endorsing Dr. Schwarz's activities. The far right wing of the Republican party and the far left wing of the Democrat party are two sides of the same coin, both of which spell 'fascism' and each is a threat to our republican form of government and an affront to sensible and responsible citizens of the U.S.

"I trust the Mill Valley City Council will disassociate themselves from the mayor's unilateral action."

Applause rang out.

Councilman Joseph E. Sheeks said the proclamation "shook" him and he was "very leary" about the developments regarding so-called "100 per cent Americanism." Further, he said, "the crusade (of Dr. Schwarz) is more nearly a commercial project."

Councilman Michael Wornum moved the council disclaim the proclamation "because we do not support the methods of the Bay Region School of Anti-Communism. This council will give its full support to any cause which positively supports the virtues of the American way of life."

Wornum said Schwarz's activities "reflect the lunatic fringe of the John Birch Society."

His motion passed 3-0, with Councilman George D. Monardo abstaining. Mayor Huber himself was absent.

Publicists for Dr. Schwarz's school listed 54 Bay Area mayors as having signed the proclamation. Among them, besides Huber, were Mayors John F. McInnis of San Rafael, Albert E. Kogler of Corte Madera, Wayne Womack of Novato, Philip S. Ehrlich Jr. of Sausalito, Carleton G. Little of San Anselmo, Arthur E. Storhaug of Larkspur, Harry C. Scott of Ross and Kenneth M. Edgar of Fairfax.

Mayor Edgar declared today, however, that he did not sign the proclamation because "it didn't seem appropriate for Fairfax."

Mayor McInnis said he had felt reservations about the approach of an emissary who asked him to sign. "He struck me as being as radically right-wing as any of the pinkos I have heard were left-wing," said McInnis. The man, however, told him mayors throughout the Bay Area were signing and "anyone who didn't sign obviously had Communist leanings." McInnis said he read the proclamation, saw nothing wrong with it, and signed.

Mayor Womack said, "I signed it but knew nothing about its source. I'm in favor of anti-communism."

Mayor Scott called it "a good thing."

Mayor Storhaug said: "I signed it just like I would sign a proclamation for Fire Prevention Week. Communism is detrimental, and any school on anti-communism is a good thing."

Mayor Kogler said, "I noticed it had been signed in Larkspur, and it seemed all right to sign it."

Mayor Carleton G. Little said he submitted the proclamation to the San Anselmo City Council and signed with the council's approval.

Only Marin mayor not listed as signing was Dr. Robert V. Watkins of Belvedere. Britton Rey, Belvedere city manager, said that as far as he was aware, the proclamation had not been presented to Mayor Watkins.

Transcript of the jury session disclosed that a prominent San Francisco jeweler was believed to be the brains behind the robberies.

Mill Valley Library Wins Cash Award

The Mill Valley Public Library has been named to receive the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Library Award, library trustees were informed Tuesday night.

It is the first time the award has gone to a California library since its origination in 1959 by the Book of the Month Club.

Ceremonies will be held April 3 at the library in conjunction with simultaneous ceremonies in eight other U.S. cities. The library is to be presented with a $1,000 check for books, and a plaque.

Librarian Dorothy Thomas said judges told the library in a letter that it was given the award because of its excellent use of limited resources in book circulation. The library has about 40,000 volumes and last year had a circulation of 154,000.

Trustees also announced that $5,680 has been derived through the five-cent library tax for 1961-62 fiscal year and will be placed in a fund for the proposed new library.

The Great Wall of China, begun 2,000 years ago, may be the only man-made feature on earth visible to an observer on the moon.

Mill Valley Library Wins Cash Award

The Mill Valley Public Library has been named to receive the Dorothy Canfield Fisher Library Award, library trustees were informed Tuesday night.

It is the first time the award has gone to a California library since its origination in 1959 by the Book of the Month Club.

Ceremonies will be held April 3 at the library in conjunuction with simultaneous ceremonies in eight other U.S. cities. The library is to be presented with a $1,000 check for books, and a plaque.

Librarian Dorothy Thomas said judges told the library in a letter that it was given the award because of its excellent use of limited resources in book circulation. The library has about 40,000 volumes and last year had a circulation of 154,000.

Trustees also announced that $5,680 has been derived through the five-cent library tax for 1961-62 fiscal year and will be placed in a fund for the proposed new library.

The Great Wall of China, begun 2,000 years ago, may be the only man-made feature on earth visible to an observer on the moon.

Dutch control of Netherlands New Guinea is vigorously contested by Indonesia in a dispute that began when Indonesia became a nation in 1949. Consultation with the native Papuans is largely inmpracticable since most have never heard of either Indonesia or the Netherlands.

Supervisors Plan 'Decisions' Meeting On County Nursing

By RANDALL GOULD

Decisions on how to go about providing nursing home facilities to replace the present county hospital will be sought by Marin County supervisors at 2 p.m. Monday, it was announced yesterday.

This developed out of what proved to be only a half-day consideration of facts. The supervisors had planned to meet all day yesterday but eliminated the "decision" part of their program because of absence of Supervisor William D. Fusselman.

With a full board expected next week, Fusselman being convalescent from recent illness, the supervisors hope to vote on a number of outstanding points including whether the county will continue to operate its own facility and if so, where.

Most of yesterday's presentations centered around Marin General Hospital, with the Marin County Medical Society throwing in a new idea.

As presented by Dr. Calvin Plumhof, the plan would entail construction of two buildings on Marin General Hospital's 35 acres, under different sponsorship. One, built by the hospital district or private foundation, would serve private patients and provide care for the chronically ill and for rehabilitation work. The other, county-built and operated either by the county or under contract, would provide for county patients.

Dr. Plumhof said this scheme would provide for control of the quality of medical service yet leave the county in charge and provide jobs for the present staff, a point of solicitude by the supervisors.

Dr. William P. Goddard, president of the Marin General Hospital board, said his board is making plans for a survey, to be paid for by the Babcock Foundation, of total needs in Marin County for long-term care facilities.

In case of construction by the county at Marin General, he said, there was no apparent reason why the county's ambulatory patients (now numbering 22) could not remain at the present Lucas Valley site until they required more care.

A statement by Marin Hospital District directors was read, stressing that "the prime advantage to the location near or on the 'campus' of the general hospital . . . is that of close proximity to the busy physician, and the support of high quality medical practice in the unit."

The statement said that care of the medically indigent is a public project, as is operation of the Marin Hospital District, hence "it seems logical that combination of these services would be in the best interests of all concerned."

Supervisor Peter H. Behr was strongly behind the Marin General Hospital plan and frequently interjected it during various presentations as well as stating his view when Chairman Walter R. Castro called for opinions of the four supervisors present.

No other hospital sought to be heard, though there was representation from San Rafael General Hospital. Neither did the promoters of private plans ask hearing, but Administrator Alan Bruce said Frank Marsh had telephoned to say his offer is still good.

Dr. Rafael G. Dufficy Jr., county physician, stressed that the project in question is simply a nursing home, not a hospital. He said he felt the county could construct its own facilities.

Welfare Director Betty L. Presley gave a statement reciting basic conditions in connection with the overall subject.

When Castro asked the supervisors' views, George Ludy said he concurred with Dufficy on the scope of what is needed and indicated that he leaned toward the Lucas Valley location.

Behr's preference for construction by Marin General Hospital was voiced at length, a view expected to be shared by Fusselman in next Monday's meeting on a basis of past expression.

William Gnoss agreed with Ludy and indicated preference for the pleasant rural atmosphere of Lucas Valley.

Gnoss felt that the county would retain complete supervision in Lucas Valley. He also wanted to insure that present employees keep their jobs.

Ludy expressed apprehension that costs might rise in an operation tied in with Marin General.

Castro similarly leaned toward the Lucas Valley site, stressing that the county has substantial investment there and declaring that earlier boards displayed wisdom in their Lucas Valley construction and development.

The discussion indicated general swing away from the plans of private construction which seemed favored recently, and with a present line-up of Behr and Fusselman favoring association with Marin General Hospital, the other three showing preference for Lucas Valley.

Bizerte was a haven for pirates during the Turkish rule of that country, from the 16th to the 19th centuries.

Dixie Trustees Ask School Site

Dixie School District trustees at a special meeting last night asked the Marin County Planning Commission not to approve elimination of a nine-acre school site in Marinwood.

Developer Gerald Hoyt has petitioned to have the acreage rezoned for residential use. It appears as a school site in a planned community at present. The petition is scheduled for hearing next Monday.

After reviewing a pupil projection, the trustees decided to ask that the planning commission take no action toward change before June of 1963. Possible need of a kindergarten-through-sixth grade school was seen.

U.S. Has Busy Week Ahead In Space —Moon Shot, Astronaut, Navy Set

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The United States will try next week to send a Ranger 3 spacecraft on a 66-hour trip to the moon to take closeup pictures and land an instrument package to record moonquakes.

The launching, set for Monday, may kick off this nation's greatest week in the space age. The attempt to launch Astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit about the earth is scheduled for Wednesday, and on Wednesday or Thursday the Navy will try to boost aloft five satellites with a single rocket.

The Glenn and quintuple satellite firings have not been announced officially. But the National Aeronautics and Space Administration released details today on the Ranger moon shot.

Monday is the first day of a five-day period in which the moon, about 235,000 miles away, is in a favorable position for the launching. If the Atlas-Agena B booster rocket is not fired in this time, the shot will be postponed until the next optimum period, which occurs every 28 days.

Commenting on the odds for success, NASA said "the assignment is so complex" that it has "assigned three identical spacecraft to the task in the hope that one of the three will be successful." Rangers 4 and 5 are slated for launching later this year.

Rangers 1 and 2 were fired last fall to test techniques for the moon landing vehicles. Each was only partially successful.

The 727-pound Ranger 3 is the first of a long series of vehicles the space agency plans to send towards the moon in preparation for landing a man, hopefully by 1967.

If Ranger 3 is successful, it will produce the clearest—but still crude—pictures ever made of the moon and will mark the first landing of a "live" instrument package on the surface.

The television camera in Ranger 3 is to operate when the spacecraft reaches within 2,400 miles of the moon and continue photographing down to an altitude of 15 miles.

At 15 miles, Ranger 3 is to detach a 36-inch sphere. A small reverse rocket will fire to slow the speed of the ball before it hits the moon.

The ball contains a 56.7-pound instrument capsule with a seismometer and a radio transmitter designed to relay data to earth for 30 to 60 days.

NATIONAL PRINTING WEEK

Nothing like type to communicate

We salute the printed word this week. For type on paper is the swift carrier of ideas . . . in fact, of our way of life. In business, in learning, is there anything more important than knowing what others think? Ben Franklin knew it . . . and made printing the great industry of ideas. That's why we try to print words in a way that best carries their meaning.

Giants Need Sound Second Sacker More Than Anything Else In 1962

CONNOLLY

What the S.F. Giants need more than anything else is a sound second baseman. If there's a Frankie Frisch, Hughie Critz or Eddie Stankey in the audience, let him step up and help carry the Horace Stoneham banner to a National League championship.

All the fuming and fretting now being exercised by Alvin Dark over whether his pitching will stand up, could be simplified, rather than aggravated, if Alvin quit hoping Charley Hiller or Ernie Bowman, a couple of young infielders, would cut the buck at second base.

Hiller, it must be admitted, was vastly improved the latter part of the season after his ego had been shrunk by a Giant failure tag that chased him back to Tacoma in mid-season. When Hiller returned the "pressure" was off. It might have helped his improvement.

Bowman, also a fugitive from the 1961 Tacoma Giant farm club, is competing with Hiller for the second base berth. They say Bowman is a whiz on double plays, faster than a jack-rabbit, lacking only a powerful bat.

THAT "POWER" reference always annoys me. It may be that the Giants ought to start looking for players who contribute singles and doubles and leave the home run getting to Orlando Cepeda, Willie Mays, Ed Bailey and Felipe Alou.

But there is no denying it, Dark is concerned over his needs at second base. Dark, and the Giant brass as well, could really start screaming for help if shortstop Jose Pagan doesn't deliver up to his last year's performance. So where would they be if that happened and second base was shaky, like it is now?

So in my future book the Giants could do well to be combing every nook and corner for an infielder of the type like Mazeroski, Neal or Bolling, to name a few good second sackers in the majors.

So much stress is being placed on Giant pitching and homerun making that the infield problem seems to have been bypassed.

BUT HERE IS one old coot who believes they need better than a green hand at second base, if they are going to go anywhere in 1962.

Jimmy Davenport, third baseman, had his best year as a Giant in 1961, batted better and fielded more expertly than before.

If skipper Dark will just allow Davenport to stay at third base and forget to jerk him from the lineup every time he goes into a slump, he'll have no worries at third base.

Harvey Kuenn was heralded as a real Mr. Fixit in the Giant infield last season. They said he could play any place on the infield and also could play the outfield. He really was starting out the All-American boy and all around handy man, but at the end of a miserable season he was camping in the outfield and being considered a dangerous batting threat with a sick .269 average.

Kuenn figures to be better in 1962 and he had better be, if he expects to stick around and collect a paycheck supposed to be $40,000.

PERHAPS THE widely discussed Giant pitching staff for 1962 is getting out of hand because the Cincy Reds won a pennant and had neither a strong shortstop nor a strong second sacker. And besides that, they had nobody worth a hoot behind the bat, leaving the backstopping to a couple of bushers. But they won on pitching alone.

That type of reasoning, however, is an exception and is not likely to occur again, so it behooves the Giant brass to get hustling around and make a deal for a sound, experienced, and not too old second sacker.

Can you think of any place Horace Stoneham can buy one?

Rain Threatens Crosby Golf Clambake

PEBBLE BEACH (AP) — Bing Crosby's 21st national pro-amateur golf tournament opened today with 324 players sharing attention with the weatherman.

While golfers and fans alike hoped for continuance of the clear skies of the past week, the forecast called for overcast tonight with possible rain tomorrow.

Defending champion Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto headed the bulky field in quest of another $5,300 top prize for the leading professional in this $50,0000 production.

Another $3,000 goes to the play-for-pay shooter on the winning pro-amateur team. Crosby's format calls for each pro to have an amateur partner with celebrities of entertainment, business and sports adding spice to the competition.

Art Wall, who won in 1959 with a 72-hole score of 279, indicated he expects to be in contention again as he commented, "I'm playing better. I was just one stroke behind the winner at San Diego and that helped my confidence."

Young Phil Rodgers, who won the Los Angeles Open by nine strokes two weeks ago, continued his hot shooting in his practice round yesterday.

The field was split into three groups for today's opening round. One played Monterey Peninsula Country Club, another Cypress Point and the third at Pebble Beach. By Saturday night each will have played all three courses with the low scorers continuing in Sunday's finals at Pebble Beach.

All three courses play to par 72. Most consider Monterey Peninsula to be less difficult since tall trees break the wind. Yet the foliage will cost strokes on erratic shots.

Just about every big name of the current crop of touring professionals is competing here, led by Masters champ Gary Player, British Open king Arnold Palmer, National Open winner Gene Littler and PGA champion Jerry Barber.

This tourney, sponsored by Crosby for charity, annually attracts from 60,000 to 100,000 fans in the four days of play. About half the fans come to watch celebrities. Many of them have never seen a golf tournament before and wander through traps, across greens in high heels and over fairways on which the golfers are playing.

This year they will be looking for such entertainers as Bob Hope, Dean Martin, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Gordon Mac Rae, Phil Harris, Howard Keel, Ray Milland, Buddy Rogers and Jim Garner.

Or if they happen to be fans from other sports, they can watch, from the baseball world: Manager Freddie Hutchinson of the National League champion Cincinnati Reds; Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants; General Manager Paul Richards of the Houston Colts; Owner Bob Reynolds of the Los Angeles Angels; Outfielder Albie Pearson of the same club; outfielder Jackie Jensen of the Boston Red Sox and Jim Davenport of the Giants.

Or they can watch Dr. Les Horvath, one-time great Ohio State grid star; Del Shofner of the New York Giants; or swimmer-actor Johnny Weissmuller, etc.

Among those who won't be here are former President Eisenhower and his brother, Edgar. Edgar has played here before. Both were invited this year, but both had prior commitments.

Hamilton AFB Boxers Win Five Titles

Today is Hamilton Air Force Base boxer Alfredo Pena's birthday—but he already received his best present last night.

The 22-year-old fighter hooked his way to the lightweight title and was named the outstanding boxer in the Lackland Air Force Base Invitational Boxing tournament in San Antonio, Texas, last night. He won the bout in a decision over Russell Norman of Fort Hood, Texas.

Hamilton boxers, including Pena, smashed their way to a total of five victories in the finals and 13 for the three-day tourney. Last night's other title winners from Marin were Art Jones, 125 pounds; Ralph McCoy, 156 pounds; Dean Harrison, 165 pounds, and Fred Lewis, 178 pounds.

TOP FIGHTER

Pena, whose home town is Hollywood, is one of the top fighters not only in the Bay Area, but in the Armed Services. Last year he captured the runner up spot as the Air Force's world-wide featherweight class and was runner-up in the world-wide inter-service tournament. He was also Golden Gloves featherweight champion of San Francisco.

The 132-pound scrapper resides at Hamilton and is a member of the 78th Civil Engineer Squadron.

Hamilton sent nine fighters and three trainers to the Lackland Tourney. They entered six classes and last night, of their five wins, four were by decision and one by a knockout.

New Invention Gives Skiers Indoor Thrill

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — Skiers today got what golfers have enjoyed for years—a rug to practice on.

An indoor ski center known as "Ski-Dek," first of a chain planned across the United States, opened here to put skiing in the same league as bowling and miniature golf.

The skiing rink provides indoor skiers with a nylon, rug-like conveyor belt that moves uphill at speeds varying from three miles an hour for beginners to up to 20 miles an hour for dare devil experts.

To give an outdoor illusion, an air conditioning system provides cool, fresh air. to give a downhill illusion, it blows the air right in the skiers' faces.

The Ski-Dek center here has nine slopes, each about 50 feet long and 19 feet wide, angled at what skiers know as a "20 per cent pitch."

Thirty slopes are planned for a Ski-Dek center in Los Angeles. Other centers will soon be under construction in Boston and at a still unselected site on Long Island near New York City, according to Schine Enterprises, Inc.

"The slope is wide enough to make all the kinds of turns you can make on snow," ski pro Ray Hall, inventor of the indoor ski system, said at a preview yesterday. "It's like skiing on an ideal surface—as if there were two inches of powdered snow on a firm base."

About 100 of the invited guests — or their children — tried out the mechanized ski slopes at yesterday's preview. Decked out in skis and ski togs provided by the center, they discovered there were a few thing they could do on Ski-Dek that they could not have done on old-fashioned snow:

Ski downhill, feeling the ground rushing by under them, and yet inch slowly uphill if they weren't going down as fast as the conveyor belt was going up;

Race with the wind and stay exactly where they were;

Teeter on wobbly beginners' knees, but stay upright by hanging onto an iron bar that swings out from the railing beside the slope;

Fall, and instead of landing in a heap be carried more or less gracefully back to the top of the hill.

But about all a spill on Ski-Dek can damage, officials said, is a snow-bunny's pride.

Ump Quits After 16 Perfect Years

SEATTLE (UPI) —Cesare Carlucci has resigned as a Pacific Coast League baseball umpire after 12 years, PCL president Dewey Soriano said yesterday.

Carlucci, 43, said he had decided to enter private business in his home town of Garden Grove, Calif.

Soriano pointed out that in 16 years of umpiring on the West Coast, including four in the California League and 12 in the PCL, Carlucci never missed an assignment.

PRO GRID THREAT

Baseball Told To Pep Up The Game

NEW YORK (AP)—Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick insisted today he is not alarmed over the rapid rise of professional football, but urged major league clubowners and the rules committee to do something about "pepping up the game."

"What baseball needs is few delays and home runs and more snappy plays and stolen bases," Frick said. "Not enough is being done in this respect."

His comments were prompted by the results of an Associated Press poll. In the balloting by 215 sportswriters and sportscasters, 109 voted "yes" to the question "will professional football in 10 or 20 years replace baseball as our national pastime?" there were 106 dissenters.

In addition, 25 voters insisted that pro football already has knocked baseball out of the box as America's No. 1 sport while another 15 predicted the grid game will take over in fewer than 10 years.

"I'm not alarmed that pro football is going to take baseball's place," Frick said. "We did have a slight decrease in major league attendance (5.6 per cent) last season. But don't forget that 30 million people watched professional baseball games and that the game is being played in more high schools and colleges than ever before."

Big league baseball attendance in 1961 was 18,893,000. The National Football League hit a record high of close to 4,000,000 while the rival American Football League also showed an increase at the gate in its second year of operation.

Frick predicted that more major league teams would be added within the next few years.

FOOTBALL LAWS

Wild Card Sub Rule To Remain Unchanged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The rules of college football got a minor touchup but no major alterations this year from the NCAA rules committee, which keyed its efforts toward curbing injuries.

The committee left unchanged the existing substitution rule after considering coaches' requests for permission to use as many as three "wild card" subs.

Fritz Chrysler, former Michigan coach who served as acting chairman, said he believed most coaches would find the committee's actions acceptable.

"The small colleges favor one rule, the universities like another," Chrysler said. "I think, however, the majority do not want free, unlimited, unrestricted substitution."

The committee adjourned its three-day annual meeting after holding a special session last night to consider the substitution rule.

One other action came out of the night session, however—a decision to request stricter enforcement of a rule against piling on a tackled player.

The committee left unchanged the regulations governing player equipment. It said that before changes are authorized, a thorough assessment should be made of numerous player-injury surveys now under way or completed.

Crisler said the chairman of the NCAA injury committee, Ernie McCoy of Penn State, will be asked to survey all studies on football injuries, including one done by the Army, one by Cornell and Michigan and others.

More rigid enforcement was asked of rules against clipping and words or signals that would rattle a team preparing to put the ball in play.

The penalty for illegal shift was reduced from 15 to 5 yards to make it equal to the illegal motion penalty.

A team kicking the ball will be authorized to touch it within the apponents' 10-yard line and make it dead. Previously, such action was ruled a touchback and the ball was brought out to the 20.

The committee booster from 5 to 15 yards the penalty for violating a rule that a forward pass or place kick held by an opponent cannot be kicked.

The committee retained the college rule that a visiting team has to change jerseys if need be to contrast with the home team, but decreed that that in high school football the home team must make the change. Formerly the change was obligatory on visiting teams of high schools as well as colleges.

Giants Sign 2 Shortstops

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Gil Garrido and Charles (Cap) Peterson, a pair of 19-year-old rookie shortstops, signed their San Francisco Giant contracts yesterday.

The Giants now have seven players under contract.

Garrido, a Panamanian, offset a .247 batting average at Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League by winning the fielding championship for his spot with a .976 percentage.

Peterson, a high-priced bonus player two years ago, injured an ankle after playing 24 games at Eugene, Ore., of the Class B Northwest League and was out for the rest of the season. His batting average at that point was .266.

Both players were given a real chance of sticking with the club. The Giants' infield depth is slim since Ed Bressoud, Joe Amalfitano and Bob Farley have gone to other clubs.

Diaz Tallies 33 In S.R. Cage League

Two players scored in the 30s last night in the second week play of the San Rafael Recreation Department's adult basketball league.

Mike Diaz of Perry's Delicatessen team racked up 33 points to lead his team in a romp over Pinky's Pizza, 82-68 in the A League. Diaz is head coach for the San Rafael High School varsity and a former University of California cage star.

The other high individual score was by Miles Gilmer who scored 31 points to pace his Montgomery Ward team in downing the Dukes, 64-50 in C league play.

In other games, A and E Garage outlasted Cain Tire, 57-53. Ron Blum, College of Marin All League quarterback and rookie for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was high man for A and E with 13 points. In the C league, Terra Linda buried the Probation Department 49 to 17. Game leader in points was Terra Linda's Jerry Delaney who tallied 12.

Belvedere Tennis Club Installs Officers For '62

Walter Machette this week stepped in as the new president of the Belvedere Tennis Club at its annual meeting of proprietary members.

Others elevated to office in the club's rotating system were Harry Colmery, treasurer, and Jack Himmelwright, James Murray and Mrs. William Atchley, members of the board.

Outgoing president Rex Fink announced a limited number of associate memberships are still available. He explained the club is not restricted to Belvedere residents.

Pirates Ordered: No More Show Biz

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' management has decided that baseball and show business don't mix.

The club announced that no member of the team will be allowed to have his own radio or television show this season.

Three of the Pirates had shows last year — third baseman Don Hoak on TV and shortstop Dick Groat and pitcher Bob Friend on radio.

FOOTBALL LAWS

Wild Card Sub Rule To Remain Unchanged

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The rules of college football got a minor touchup but no major alterations this year from the NCAA rules committee, which keyed its efforts toward curbing injuries.

The committee left unchanged the existing substitution rule after considering coaches' requests for permission to use as many as three "wild card" subs.

Fritz Chrysler, former Michigan coach who served as acting chairman, said he believed most coaches would find the committee's actions acceptable.

"The small colleges favor one rule, the universities like another," Chrysler said. "I think, however, the majority do not want free, unlimited, unrestricted substitution."

The committee adjourned its three-day annual meeting after holding a special session last night to consider the substitution rule.

One other action came out of the night session, however—a decision to request stricter enforcement of a rule against piling on a tackled player.

The committee left unchanged the regulations governing player equipment. It said that before changes are authorized, a thorough assessment should be made of numerous player-injury surveys now under way or completed.

Crisler said the chairman of the NCAA injury committee, Ernie McCoy of Penn State, will be asked to survey all studies on football injuries, including one done by the Army, one by Cornell and Michigan and others.

More rigid enforcement was asked of rules against clipping and words or signals that would rattle a team preparing to put the ball in play.

The penalty for illegal shift was reduced from 15 to 5 yards to make it equal to the illegal motion penalty.

A team kicking the ball will be authorized to touch it within the apponents' 10-yard line and make it dead. Previously, such action was ruled a touchback and the ball was brought out to the 20.

The committee booster from 5 to 15 yards the penalty for violating a rule that a forward pass or place kick held by an opponent cannot be kicked.

The committee retained the college rule that a visiting team has to change jerseys if need be to contrast with the home team, but decreed that that in high school football the home team must make the change. Formerly the change was obligatory on visiting teams of high schools as well as colleges.

Giants Sign 2 Shortstops

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Gil Garrido and Charles (Cap) Peterson, a pair of 19-year-old rookie shortstops, signed their San Francisco Giant contracts yesterday.

The Giants now have seven players under contract.

Garrido, a Panamanian, offset a .247 batting average at Tacoma of the Pacific Coast League by winning the fielding championship for his spot with a .976 percentage.

Peterson, a high-priced bonus player two years ago, injured an ankle after playing 24 games at Eugene, Ore., of the Class B Northwest League and was out for the rest of the season. His batting average at that point was .266.

Both players were given a real chance of sticking with the club. The Giants' infield depth is slim since Ed Bressoud, Joe Amalfitano and Bob Farley have gone to other clubs.

Diaz Tallies 33 In S.R. Cage League

Two players scored in the 30s last night in the second week play of the San Rafael Recreation Department's adult basketball league.

Mike Diaz of Perry's Delicatessen team racked up 33 points to lead his team in a romp over Pinky's Pizza, 82-68 in the A League. Diaz is head coach for the San Rafael High School varsity and a former University of California cage star.

The other high individual score was by Miles Gilmer who scored 31 points to pace his Montgomery Ward team in downing the Dukes, 64-50 in C league play.

In other games, A and E Garage outlasted Cain Tire, 57-53. Ron Blum, College of Marin All League quarterback and rookie for the Pittsburgh Pirates, was high man for A and E with 13 points. In the C league, Terra Linda buried the Probation Department 49 to 17. Game leader in points was Terra Linda's Jerry Delaney who tallied 12.

Belvedere Tennis Club Installs Officers For '62

Walter Machette this week stepped in as the new president of the Belvedere Tennis Club at its annual meeting of proprietary members.

Others elevated to office in the club's rotating system were Harry Colmery, treasurer, and Jack Himmelwright, James Murray and Mrs. William Atchley, members of the board.

Outgoing president Rex Fink announced a limited number of associate memberships are still available. He explained the club is not restricted to Belvedere residents.

Pirates Ordered: No More Show Biz

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates' management has decided that baseball and show business don't mix.

The club announced that no member of the team will be allowed to have his own radio or television show this season.

Three of the Pirates had shows last year — third baseman Don Hoak on TV and shortstop Dick Groat and pitcher Bob Friend on radio.

'Dempsey-Marciano Bout Would Have Been Murder Inc.'

By OSCAR FRALEY

MIAMI (UPI)—Gene Tunney as a boxer and Rocky Marciano as a puncher were the greatest champions since Jack Dempsey, Al (The Vest) Weill said today, and a Dempsey-Marciano bout would have been "the greatest fight of all time."

"Throw those two great punchers in together," Weill mused, his blue eyes lighting up, "and you'd have really seen some fireworks. It would have been Murder Incorporated."

Weill should know, having been associated briefly with Dempsey in the Manassa Mauler's early days and being the man who managed Marciano to the heavyweight title and a record of 49 fights without defeat.

LONG ILLNESS

"The Vest," so called because he once displayed a passionate predilection for gaudy waistcoats, has difficulty generating enthusiasm these days after a nine-month illness with a kidney ailment. He underwent eight blood transfusions and, after almost a year on the boxing sidelines, at 68 finally has come back to where he once again is itching to manage or promote.

Marciano was only one of Weill's champions. Al also piloted Joey Archibald to the featherweight title, Lou Ambers to the lightweight crown and Marty Servo to the welterweight championship.

"Ambers was the best," he insists. "He was tops in principles as well as ability."

The portly, white-haired man with the horn-rimmed glasses may, in this statement, be prejudiced by a coolness in his relations with Marciano. Rocky became increasingly assertive as to his aim and intentions as he came down to the point of retirement and they are not particularly close even at this stage.

"We talk to each other," Weill hastens to interject. "He calls me up and so on. But he made a couple of pretty bad cracks about me. Rocky listened to too many fair weather friends. Club lawyers, I call 'em. I blame them for lookin' to get in with him. They've cost him a lot of money, too.

SOME HELP

"Understand," he added, "I'm not knockin' Marciano. It's just that those fair weather friends told him he did it all by himself. Now you gotta have everything to win 49 without defeat. But you got to have a lot of help from your manager, too."

There are, Weill claims those psychological moments when a needle from the manager is the difference.

"Like the night in Philadelphia we fight old Jersey Joe Walcott for the title," he said. "Look, I know we can't win the decision. Think what you want, but this is Walcott's home town. They're all for him, and that includes the officials. So when Rocky comes to the corner after the 12th round, I tell him 'you aint' got a chance less you knock him out.' So Rocky goes out there the next round and hits him a right that puts Joe away and we win the title."

Today there's a long, long road a winding behind him. But Al the Vest is looking ahead.

"There's a kid on the coast . . . " he started to say.

But, somehow, you know that, coolness and all, there will never be another Rocky Marciano.

BIG PRO RACE THIS WEEKEND

Los Angeles Jets Future Is Still Up In The Air

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Jets have postponed two basketball games scheduled here tomorrow and Sunday against the Hawaii Chiefs.

A spokesman for the American Basketball League club said the future is still uncertain. Club and league officials have been meeting for the last few days in an effort to work out financial problems and readjust the league schedule for the last part of the season.

Poor support at the box office has hurt the club, which, starting its first season, had to accept less desirable dates — mostly Mondays and Tuesdays. There were reports last week the Jets would fold.

Club officials said there is hope of financial assistance, which, if arranged, would enable the Jets to complete their 1961 schedule.

Dick Lane Played Pro Bowl In Pain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Lane of the Detroit Lions underwent surgery after a three-day bout with appendicitis and a three-hour football game which made him a hero.

Lane played in Sunday's Pro Bowl game, scoring the first touchdown for the Western All-Stars with an interception and 42-yard run.

S.R. Cadets Outgunned

The Redwood Junior Varsity romped over the San Rafael Military Academy varsity team 58-47 after leading all the way yesterday. Dave Auerbach was high point man for the Giants and Terry Hoffmann for the Cadets. Each scored 15 points.

PRO BASKETBALL

West First Guard To Break 60-Point Mark

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

The odds are darn good — especially with Elgin Baylor in the Army—that when Wilt Chamberlain drops in 62 points during a game no one in the National Basketball Assn. is going to outscore him that night. But the odds didn't hold true last night.

Jerry West, only a second-year player — and a guard, no less — scored 63 to lead the Los Angeles Lakers over the determined New York Knickerbockers 129-121 at the Sports Arena in Los Angeles. Chamberlain got his 62 in leading Philadelphia to an overtime 136-130 win over the St. Louis Hawks at Detroit.

The Boston Celtics, with no one scoring over 33 — but four scoring over 20—used their balanced attack to come from behind in the second half to defeat the Detroit Pistons, 126-116, in the other half of that double-header at Detroit.

West became only the fifth individual in the history of the NBA to pass the 60-point scoring mark. Besides Chamberlain and Baylor — who have gone over 70—the only others were George Mikan of the old Minneapolis Lakers with 61 points in 1952 and Joe Fulks of Indianapolis with 63 in 1949.

West was the first guard to pass the 60 mark and in the process, of course, established an NBA record for backcourt men.

The former West Virginia University All-America scored his total on 22 of 36 field goal attempts and 19 of 22 free throws.

The Knicks got a 36-point effort from Willie Naulls and even rallied from a 16-point first quarter deficit to take a 102-101 lead in the final period. But the Lakers pulled it out.

New Times Listed For San Rafael Physical Fitness

A new time schedule for the San Rafael Recreation Department's Saturday physical fitness sessions will start Saturday at San Rafael High School, announced Joseph Rodota, department director.

Sessions for 10, 11 and 12-year-olds (boys and girls) will meet from 9 to 10:30 a.m. For the 7, 8 and 9-year-olds, a session will be from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Sessions will begin at the school's main gymnasium.

"In an effort to interest more youngsters, a more varied program of activities is being planned," said Rodota. "The girls will work on a modern dance program at which some of the basic steps will be taught. Also the girls will have an opportunity to play some low and high organized games such as kickball, dodge ball and steal the bacon. The boys may play basketball, develop skills in trampoline, and tumbling and use the weight room. We also plan to have movies."

Instructors will be staffs of both San Rafael and Terra Linda high schools. Activities are free for youngsters residing in the San Rafael School District. For further information contact Dennis Sullivan, recreation supervisor, city hall.

League Needs A Team

The San Rafael Recreation Department reports it is in need of a basketball team to replace the Ross Raiders in the adult B league. Teams interested may contact Dennis Sullivan, recreation supervisor, city hall.

Cotati Drag Races

Dragsters will compete for $500 worth of prizes Sunday at Cotati Raceways, Highway 101, north of Petaluma. Driving begins at 8:30 a.m., with eliminations at 1:30 p.m.

TIED MATCH — Leonard Williams, Novato High varsity wrestler keeps atop Acalanes High opponent in a heavy weight class contest. The pair tied in their match. This Saturday the Hornets will send some 20 athletes to participate in the North Bay Novice Tournament at the California School for the Deaf in Berkeley.

Notes, Quotes From Pebble Beach; Fans Rate Casper Best On Greens

HANLEY

PEBBLE BEACH — Arnold Palmer considers Bill Casper the most remarkable putter among the pros.

"Bill has to have a better putting touch and be a better judge of distance than the rest of us to putt as well as he does because he has such an unorthodox stroke," says Palmer.

"He hits down on the ball when he putts, contrary to what the rest of us try to do. If his timing and stroke are not perfect he can get to putting pretty poorly. But that doesn't happen often. I think there are better putters on the circuit than Casper but he is the world champion on the long ones."

Casper, however, thinks Dow Finsterwald is the best and most underrated putter among the pros.

"Dow doesn't hit as many greens as some of these fellows but he wins big money because he putts the ball in the hole," says Casper.

NOTWITHSTANDING Casper's nod to Finsterwald, golfing galleries are inclined to agree with Palmer that Casper is the best, particularly the gallery that followed him in last year's Crosby when he had 11 one-putt greens and needed a total of only 23 putts during his third round at Pebble Beach where he set a course record of 65.

The day before Casper set that record he accidentally broke his putter after playing two holes. He putted the rest of the way with a 2-iron, then got a putter from George Low, the putting authority. That did the trick. The new Casper putter is a mallet with a plastic insert.

ALVIN DARK, asked whether golf or baseball is the tougher game, diplomatically dodged the issue but still came up with a pretty good quote: "In baseball I don't mind playing before 50,000 people but here the crowd doesn't sit in the stands. It breathes right down your neck."

ERNIE FORD, Gary Player's amateur partner, says the little South African pro might not be a big fellow "but he sure is a passel of power off the tee." Player is one of the few successful pros who apparently tries to hit the ball as hard as he can on every tee shot.

ERIC MONTI and Ernie Vossler, a couple of seasoned campaigners, declare the pro tour is getting tougher and tougher.

"There are five times as many really good players on the tour now as in the 40s," says Monti.

"This game's getting so tough it's awful," says Vossler. "It used to be a guy could win by beating out 10 top players. Now, every time you tee it up you've got to shoot lights out."

Touchdowners Name Guard As Year's Best

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Touchdown Club today selected Joe Romig, Colorado guard, college lineman of the year.

Romig will receive the Knute Rockne Memorial Trophy Saturday night at the 27th annual Touchdown Club awards dinner.

The club announced previously that Ernie Davis of Syracuse, Heisman Trophy winner, would be honored as college back of the year.

Brazilian, Irishman Clash For Undisputed Ring Title

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—One of boxing's three disputed titles will be cleared up tonight and Brazilian fans think their Eder Jofre will emerge as the undisputed bantamweight champion in his match with Ireland's John Caldwell.

Jofre, a knockout puncher with 40 victories and three draws in 43 fights, is recognized in South America and by the U.S. National Baxing Association as world champ. Caldwell, 23-year-old boxer who also is unbeaten, holds the European version of the same world title.

There are dual claimants in both the middleweight and light heavy classes with Gene Fullmer and Terry Downes splitting the middle title and Archie Moore and Harold Johnson holding shares of the light heavy crown.

The bantam dispute arose after Mexico's Joe Becerra retired following a knockout by Eloy Sanchez in a non-title fight, Aug. 30, 1960. Jofre was recognized after he stopped Sanchez, Nov. 18, 1960. Caldwell gained the European nod by whipping exchamp Alphonse Halimi March 30, 1961 and repeating last Oct. 31.

Brazilian fans have made Jofre, 25, a top heavy favorite on the strength of a superior punching power. They think they spotted a chink in the Irishman's defense during his workouts. Jofre has stopped 30 opponents, including the last 10 men he faced. Caldwell has 12 knockouts in his 25-0 record.

Snead Enters Tourney

PALM SPRINGS (UPI)—Slammin' Sammy Snead will be among some 125 professionals going for the $50,000 third annual Palm Springs Golf Classic Jan. 31-Feb.4.

A tournament official said Snead's participation in the 90-hole classic probably will be the 49-year-old golfer's only appearance on the winter tour in California.

Utah's McGill Is Dominant Leader In College Scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Utah's Billy McGill continues almost unchallenged as the nation's major college basketball scoring leader, but there's a donneybrook a-building in the scramble for the team scoring lead.

Less than a half a point separate the first five teams, the tightest race in history the NCAA Service Bureau said today.

In games through Jan. 13 Indiana had the lead with an average of 87.58 points per game. It was followed in order by Arizona State 87.57, Loyola, Ill., 87.45, Boston College 87.44 and Kentucky 87.21.

McGill averages 37.4. The only other player averaging 30 points or more is Seton Hall sophomore Nick Werkman with 32.3.

There are two new accuracy leaders, Layton Jones of Auburn in field goal shooting and Tommy Boyer of Arkansas in free throws. Jones is now hitting .632 from the floor, replacing Ohio State's Jerry Lucas .620 while Boyer has assumed free throw leadership from his teammate, Jerry Carlton. Boyer is hitting .947 and Carlteon .920.

Residential Zone On Plans Agenda

A total of 63 parcels of land totaling 78.83 acres in the Meadowsweet area adjoining Corte Madera will be considered for rezoning from agriculture to single-family residential by the Marin County Planning Commission Monday.

The commission meets at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue in San Rafael. The Meadowsweet rezoning proposal is item No. 7 on an agenda of about 20 items.

The proposed rezoning, sought through petition signed by 27 persons represented as owners of 21 of the parcels in the unincorporated Meadowsweet area, would increase the minimum allowable area per home from 10,000 square feet to 20,000 square feet.

A public hearing on a petition by the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints for a use permit to construct a church on Lomita Drive east of Alto School will be heard as item No. 12 on the agenda.

The first of two public hearings on a master plan for 25 acres in the Strawberry area between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive will be heard as item No. 11 on the agenda.

A total of 5,600 acres north of Bolinas Rancho will be discussed at a public hearing to decide whether the property should be dropped from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan.

Illinois Boy Suspected Of Blaze In Custody

CHICAGO (UPI) — A cherubic looking boy, suspected of touching off a 1958 fire which killed 92 children and three nuns, was in custody today but his future was still uncertain.

The boy, described as a prime suspect in Our Lady of the Angels School fire which occurred at the parochial elementary school on Dec. 1, 1958, was surrendered to authorities yesterday by his attorney's.

"He cried all the way here," said Attorney John J. Cogan.

The 13-year-old boy was taken to a juvenile home on the city's west side. His identity was not revealed.

Officials said the bespectacled boy was a pupil at the red brick school at the time of the fire. He since moved to suburban Cicero and now is in the eighth grade.

A petition was filed in Judge Alfred J. Cilella's family court today alleging that the boy was guilty of violations on five different dates last October, November and December. The petitions allege that the boy started five fires in Cicero apartment buildings.

Now-
Ford frees you forever
from the expense and bother
of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here-
and only the cars from Ford have it!

120004

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles

You save time, save money.

Like another famous Ford first—the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty*—twice-a-year maintenance is dramatic evidence of the superior quality built into Ford cars. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

Residential Zone On Plans Agenda

A total of 63 parcels of land totaling 78.83 acres in the Meadowsweet area adjoining Corte Madera will be considered for rezoning from agriculture to single-family residential by the Marin County Planning Commission Monday.

The commission meets at 9 a.m. at 1711 Grand Avenue in San Rafael. The Meadowsweet rezoning proposal is item No. 7 on an agenda of about 20 items.

The proposed rezoning, sought through petition signed by 27 persons represented as owners of 21 of the parcels in the unincorporated Meadowsweet area, would increase the minimum allowable area per home from 10,000 square feet to 20,000 square feet.

A public hearing on a petition by the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints for a use permit to construct a church on Lomita Drive east of Alto School will be heard as item No. 12 on the agenda.

The first of two public hearings on a master plan for 25 acres in the Strawberry area between Belvedere Drive and West Strawberry Drive will be heard as item No. 11 on the agenda.

A total of 5,600 acres north of Bolinas Rancho will be discussed at a public hearing to decide whether the property should be dropped from the Bolinas-Stinson Beach master plan.

Illinois Boy Suspected Of Blaze In Custody

CHICAGO (UPI) — A cherubic looking boy, suspected of touching off a 1958 fire which killed 92 children and three nuns, was in custody today but his future was still uncertain.

The boy, described as a prime suspect in Our Lady of the Angels School fire which occurred at the parochial elementary school on Dec. 1, 1958, was surrendered to authorities yesterday by his attorney's.

"He cried all the way here," said Attorney John J. Cogan.

The 13-year-old boy was taken to a juvenile home on the city's west side. His identity was not revealed.

Officials said the bespectacled boy was a pupil at the red brick school at the time of the fire. He since moved to suburban Cicero and now is in the eighth grade.

A petition was filed in Judge Alfred J. Cilella's family court today alleging that the boy was guilty of violations on five different dates last October, November and December. The petitions allege that the boy started five fires in Cicero apartment buildings.

Now-
Ford frees you forever
from the expense and bother
of frequent car servicing.
Twice-a-year maintenance is here-
and only the cars from Ford
have it!

In a new Ford Galaxie or Fairlane, the odometer rolls off a long 6,000 miles between every service stop. Compare this with other '62 cars and here's what you'll find: many cars still have to check in for service every 1,000 miles; some every 2,000 miles; others every 4,000 miles. Only the cars from Ford need service only twice a year, or every 6,000 miles

You save time, save money.

Like another famous Ford first—the 12-month or 12,000-mile warranty*—twice-a-year maintenance is dramatic evidence of the superior quality built into Ford cars. Just one stop every 6,000 miles takes care of servicing. You'll go 30,000 miles between major lubrications, 6,000 miles between oil changes and minor lubrications, 2 years or 30,000 miles without changing engine coolant-antifreeze. Brakes adjust themselves.

Why buy a service headache when Ford is ready with the cure? See your Ford Dealer—and see how close Ford has come to the fill-it-and-forget-it car!

Features of the future...now

*Ford Motor Company warrents to its dealers, and its dealers in turn, warrant to their customers as follows: That for 12 months or for 12,000 miles, whichever comes first, free replacement, including related labor, will be made by dealers, of any part with a defect in workmanship or materials. Tires are not covered by the warrantyt appropriate adjustments will continue to be made by the tire companies. Owners will remain responsible for normal maintenance service and routine replacement of maintenance items such as filters, spark plugs, and ignition points.

Here's The Lowdown On P-TA Receptions From Real Veteran

I'm a veteran of a hundred P-TA receptions. Have you ever gone to one? Here is the lowdown.

You enter the reception timidly. Your right hand is grabbed suddenly by a tall, bosomy past-president. You recoil, like a startled rabbit. The lady smiles reassuringly. You realize she means well. She just wants your name, so she can mutter it to the woman standing beside her. At my last reception I started out as Dr. Barbour. Then I became Mr. Barbara, Mr. Barba, Mr. Bobb, and finally Mr. Dobb. I was charmed.

After running the gauntlet you are faced by a large expanse of polished floor. At the end you see a table. It is laden with tiny little sandwiches, dry cookies, nuts and weak coffee. Why they call those little things sandwiches I'll never know. They're about the size of a quarter, and never more than one slice thick. The goo in them is fattening, but tasty.

Be careful how you approach the table. Don't hurry or you'll slide. I once arrived at the tea table on my bottom, feet aloft. That's bad form. Be sure to smile at all the ladies on the way. Let them see you're enjoying yourself. At the table you'll wish you had four hands. The coffee cup slips on the saucer. The nuts roll everywhere. The napkin slides to the floor. You may dribble all over your front. Sometimes it's better not to eat.

Next you work your way to the exit. Don't rush. Stop occasionally and ask, "How are your children?" or, "How do you manage to stay so young?" You don't have to listen to the answers, you understand. But you should ask, just the same. Finally you duck out. All told it takes about 23 minutes. Good old receptions!

FACE AND FIGURE

Noted Hairdresser Decries Teen-Agers' Style Habits

Hairidressers, please note: Teen-agers will continue to set their own hair styles in 1962. And they'll cut it and bleach it, too, thank you.

That's a prediction from hairdresser Michel Kazan who occasionally gets to put a pin curl in the crowning glory of the younger set.

The girls will wear their hair in casual style, not coiffed, use home permanent waves and streak their hair when they feel like it. It's enough to make a hairdresser blow his top.

"I can understand that they want to use home permanent waves, but they should read directions," explains Michel. "It's difficult to get a point over to a teen-ager, though; they know everything. The result of a home permanent can be damaged hair when they make up their own methods."

"They snip and chop, ruining the hair as they go. Hair should be cut in a proper way to maintain the beauty of the hair, otherwise the natural body of the hair is lost."

Hair bleaching a la teen-ager is described by Michel as "some dabs of cotton soaked in peroxide on the hair and a session in the sun." This bleaching method often results in yellow and orange streaks, dry hair, broken and damaged hair.

"They should learn that the oval face shape is the most desired and that hair as well as makeup contributes to the shape. A thin face may need width, a round face may require height or a certain length to give the illusion of an oval face. But any girl must brush, brush, brush her hair to bring out the luster, no matter what the hair style," he says.

TEEN-AGE COIF created by Michel Kazan, shorthairdo ends in wispy bangs over eyebrows. Opened-up curls frame face. A few to-the-face brushstrokes give well-groomed appearance.

Here's The Lowdown On P-TA Receptions From Real Veteran

I'm a veteran of a hundred P-TA receptions. Have you ever gone to one? Here is the lowdown.

You enter the reception timidly. Your right hand is grabbed suddenly by a tall, bosomy past-president. You recoil, like a startled rabbit. The lady smiles reassuringly. You realize she means well. She just wants your name, so she can mutter it to the woman standing beside her. At my last reception I started out as Dr. Barbour. Then I became Mr. Barbara, Mr. Barba, Mr. Bobb, and finally Mr. Dobb. I was charmed.

After running the gauntlet you are faced by a large expanse of polished floor. At the end you see a table. It is laden with tiny little sandwiches, dry cookies, nuts and weak coffee. Why they call those little things sandwiches I'll never know. They're about the size of a quarter, and never more than one slice thick. The goo in them is fattening, but tasty.

Children's Theater On The Move

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK.—Carole Schwartz is a tiny woman play- a big role in a burgeoning movement in the drama world —theater for children.

She said children's theater had expanded rapidly since World War II, with both amateur and professional groups performing for the moppet set.

The Junior League has more than 100 community theater projects operating. Headquarters in New York alone are 80 professional groups presenting children's theater and puppet shows. Nationally, some 200 colleges and universities now offer creative drama and children's theater courses.

Miss Schwartz, 26 years old, 98 pounds light, and five feet, two inches tall, has been in the theater since she was 5 and her mother let her join a group called the "Showcase Revue" which entertained at military posts in the New York area during World War II.

"I was more a mascot than anything else," she said in an interview. In college, however, her interest changed from acting to behind-the-scenes and today she is founder, director and co-producer with Paul Libin of the Peppermint Players.

It is a repertory company currently represented at New York theaters with "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "The Sleeping Beauty." The group presenting the story of Jack and the giant will go on tour soon and be replaced in New York with a new production of "Ali Baba." The tour will include Long Island, Pennsylvania, the Southeastern states, and by next fall, the Midwest, Miss Schwartz said.

What are the special values of theater for children?

"For one thing," said the young producer, "it brings great literature to life in a way that is meaningful to them. And I think it is imperative that we train people to appreciate the arts. The appreciation needs cultivation — training and exposure—at an early age."

Miss Schwartz, a native of (158 West Shore Road) Kings Point, N. Y., where her family runs a dairy, was graduated cum laude from Syracuse University with a bachelor of science degree in drama and education.

She taught elementary school at Syosset, N. Y., for one year. When she spent a summer "vacation" attending a children's theater workshop in Seattie, "I became completely enamored with the field."

Now her teaching is done at the graduate level at Hunter College or at the counseling level to communities who want to set up creative drama programs for children.

She holds a master of arts degree from the University of Denver where she studied with Dr. Campton Bell, one of the pioneers in the children's theater field.

The Peppermint Players gears its presentations in New York to the three to nine-year-old age group, she said, "because these children get started on culture earlier . . . they're surrounded by it. By the time they're 12, they're seeing Broadway hits." Audiences on the road range from five to 12 years.

Whatever their age, children want theater in which they can identify themselves with the characters; they want familiar stories, some comedy, repetition and visual appeal. "We spend a lot of time and effort on costuming," she said. "If we hear the children gasp when the curtain goes up, we know we have 'em."

An actor in children's theater always has to be on his toes, she said, "because you never know from one performance to another what the children will do. Sometimes they're so carried away they come on stage to help the hero or heroine."

She recalled, though, that one youngster was hardly so enthralled at a performance of "The Sleeping Beauty." He was about 11, and considered all this just a little too childish for him.

Miss Schwartz said when it came to the scene where the prince kisses the sleeping beauty, the boy leaned over to a friend and in a loud whisper said

"Can you imagine, kissing a dame over 100 years old?"

Tips Help Wife Ease Hot Chore

CHICAGO (UPI)—The following tips can make ironing easier:

—adjust the ironing board high enough to reach its back edge without bending and low enough so the elbow doesn't have to be lifted.

—limit an ironing sesion to two and one-half hours. Tests have proved efficiency drops after that and more energy is needed to iron each additional piece.

—use the proper iron. Weight has little or no effect on ironing ability, so choose a light one. An iron with a large sole plate is best for flat work. Smaller irons with pointed tips are best for ruffles and sleeves.

Children's Theater On The Move

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK.—Carole Schwartz is a tiny woman playa big role in a burgeoning movement in the drama world —theater for children.

She said children's theater had expanded rapidly since World War II, with both amateur and professional groups performing for the moppet set.

The Junior League has more than 100 community theater projects operating. Headquarters in New York alone are 80 professional groups presenting children's theater and puppet shows. Nationally, some 200 colleges and universities now offer creative drama and children's theater courses.

Miss Schwartz, 26 years old, 98 pounds light, and five feet, two inches tall, has been in the theater since she was 5 and her mother let her join a group called the "Showcase Revue" which entertained at military posts in the New York area during World War II.

"I was more a mascot than anything else," she said in an interview. In college, however, her interest changed from acting to behind-the-scenes and today she is founder, director and co-producer with Paul Libin of the Peppermint Players.

It is a repertory company currently represented at New York theaters with "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "The Sleeping Beauty." The group presenting the story of Jack and the giant will go on tour soon and be replaced in New York with a new production of "Ali Baba." The tour will include Long Island, Pennsylvania, the Southeastern states, and by next fall, the Midwest, Miss Schwartz said.

What are the special values of theater for children?

"For one thing," said the young producer, "it brings great literature to life in a way that is meaningful to them. And I think it is imperative that we train people to appreciate the arts. The appreciation needs cultivation — training and exposure—at an early age."

Miss Schwartz, a native of (158 West Shore Road) Kings Point, N. Y., where her family runs a dairy, was graduated cum laude from Syracuse University with a bachelor of science degree in drama and education.

She taught elementary school at Syosset, N. Y., for one year. When she spent a summer "vacation" attending a children's theater workshop in Seattle, "I became completely enamored with the field."

Now her teaching is done at the graduate level at Hunter College or at the counseling level to communities who want to set up creative drama programs for children.

She holds a master of arts degree from the University of Denver where she studied with Dr. Campton Bell, one of the pioneers in the children's theater field.

The Peppermint Players gears its presentations in New York to the three to nine-year-old age group, she said, "because these children get started on culture earlier . . . they're surrounded by it. By the time they're 12, they're seeing Broadway hits." Audiences on the road range from five to 12 years.

Whatever their age, children want theater in which they can identify themselves with the characters; they want familiar stories, some comedy, repetition and visual appeal. "We spend a lot of time and effort on costuming," she said. "If we hear the children gasp when the curtain goes up, we know we have 'em."

An actor in children's theater always has to be on his toes, she said, "because you never know from one performance to another what the children will do. Sometimes they're so carried away they come on stage to help the hero or heroine."

She recalled, though, that one youngster was hardly so enthralled at a performance of "The Sleeping Beauty." He was about 11, and considered all this just a little too childish for him.

Miss Schwartz said when it came to the scene where the prince kisses the sleeping beauty, the boy leaned over to a friend and in a loud whisper said

"Can you imagine, kissing a dame over 100 years old?"

Tips Help Wife Ease Hot Chore

CHICAGO (UPI)—The following tips can make ironing easier:

—adjust the ironing board high enough to reach its back edge without bending and low enough so the elbow doesn't have to be lifted.

—limit an ironing sesion to two and one-half hours. Tests have proved efficiency drops after that and more energy is needed to iron each additional piece.

—use the proper iron. Weight has little or no effect on ironing ability, so choose a light one. An iron with a large sole plate is best for flat work. Smaller irons with pointed tips are best for ruffles and sleeves.

Today is Thursday, Jan. 18, the 18th day of the year with 347 to follow in 1962.

The moon is approaching its full phase.

There are no morning or evening stars.

On this day in history:

In 1788, the first English settlement in Australia was made at Botany Bay.

In 1912, Capt. Robert F. Scott, an English explorer, reached the South Pole with his companions only to find that Norwegian explorer Ronald Amundson had preceded him by five weeks.

In 1943, Moscow announced the lifting of the German siege of Leningrad, which had lasted since the autumn of 1941.

In 1950, the U. S. Senate repealed the federal tax on oleomargarine despite pressure from American dairy interests.

A thought for the day: Greek philosopher Aristotle once said: "Democracies are most commonly corrupted by the insolence of demagogues."

Even A World's Fair Joins In Redwood Empire Plans

It's a habit in many localities to predict rosy increases in tourist travel due to the increased sales of automobiles. Some even still cite the five-day week as reasons why the world on wheels is heading for their areas.

It is the practice of the Redwood Empire Association to give some study to such trends—but throughout its busy history of stimulating travel along the North Coast, REA has depended more upon long range planning to make the Redwood Empire more attractive to visitors.

This is with no myopic viewpoint, either. The fact that Oregon, Washington or British Columbia are holding important civic events isn't taken as an affront to the Redwood Empire. Instead, REA joins in promoting the other area's events, knowing that our great North Coast can be visited—either coming or going—by those attending the big event elsewhere.

A current example is this year's Seattle World's Fair, now receiving attention nationally and internationally. Helping Seattle realize its hope of 10 million World's Fair visitors will receive special attention at tomorrow's REA quarterly executive board meeting at Ignacio.

It's constructive planning, too, for it is a safe bet that 25 per cent of those attending the World's Fair will be Californians. And most of these will travel the Redwood Highway. Supplementing the Californians will be those from other sections who plan California visits.

But the Seattle Fair is just one factor in the outlook for even greater use of 101. Added attractions this year will be two large new man-made lakes, through new dams resulting from construction at Berryessa and Mendocino. Camping, motel life, boating and increased fishing are among the many new results. Add to these the universal appeal of the mighty redwoods, the Oregon Caves, the reviving popularity of Russian River, Clear Lake, and other resorts, fishing on the Klamath and other rivers, the wineries — and the lure is even more irresistable.

However, smug pride in such priceless attractions is not enough. The increased flow of tourists doesn't just happen in the Redwood Empire. REA has for years aggressively told the world about the area—and this will be an important part of tomorrow's all-day session at Rickey's Rancho San Rafael.

Plans for the year's advertising program will receive major attention, with photos, news stories, newspaper and magazine advertising and billboards all will carry a Redwood Empire-Seattle Fair tiein—with reciprocal activity out of Seattle. Reports on the association's beaches and parks study, and co-ordination of special events in our nine-county area all further the travel program.

The Redwood Empire Association never was a coterie of dreamers. Alert business men, active in their communities from San Francisco to Grants Pass, are aware of the growing dollar value of Redwood Empire promotion. So tomorrow's meeting will bring together many leaders of the area, all with worthwhile plans for making 1962 the greatest year in Highway 101 history.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

By JAMES KELLER

LIGHT DIDN'T STAY GREEN

A highly original excuse was given by one traffic violator in Tucson, Arizona, not long ago.

When a policeman saw a woman drive through a red light, he signalled her to the curb and asked: "Why did you go through that red light?"

"Well, it wasn't my fault," she replied. "It changed before I got there."

Often we look at things only from our own selfish point of view—a dangerous habit which may distort our thinking.

If this failing is not checked, we can make extravagant and unfair allowances in favor of self and block out the rightful consideration that we should show to others.

Whether it involves driving a car, running a home, writing an article, fulfilling a contract or speaking about others, make sure to think things through fairly and justly.

Then you will keep the other person's point of view in mind as well as your own.

"As you wish men to do to you, so also do you to them." (Luke 6:31)

Help me, O Father, to put myself in the place of the other person.

A New Group Takes Up The California Planning Puzzle

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Publication of a report entitled "California Going, Going . . ." by an organization known as "California Tomorrow" is serving to point up some of the major problems in planning now extant in this state.

The report, financed privately, outlines the state's struggle to remain beautiful and productive against tremendous odds.

Primarily, the lack of coordinated planning between government agencies at all levels, and the resultant blots on the landscape, usage of good city land for parking purposes, and removal of vast-acreages of fine agricultural land for suburbs and freeways, are stressed.

Obviously, most of the changes effected in California during the past three decades have been changes that were inescapable. The public needs highways upon which to travel, houses in which to live, industrial plants in which to work, places in which to play.

RECOGNIZING THIS to be a fact, no conclusion can be reached other than that it is unfortunate "California Tomorrow" was not started 30 years ago.

Even so, the mistakes of the past may be at least partially corrected by the actions of the future, and this is what the organization is attempting to bring to attention of the state.

ONE OF THE FIRST to recognize the problem was Jesse M. Unruh (D-Inglewood), speaker of the Assembly.

"After reading this report," he said, "I intend to recommend its study by appropriate Assembly committees, so that the issues raised can be up before the 1963 legislature.

"Unless we put a great deal more effort into the planned and co-ordinated development of our highways, our waterworks, our urban growth and our recreation facilities, we will find ourselves spending twice for everything—once to get the job done; a second time to do it the way it should have been done in the first place."

Need Bridges And Ferries

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The I-J missed the point in its editorial describing all the inconveniences connected with the old ferry boats.

Everything said was true, but nobody has suggested tearing down the bridges and returning to that limited transportation.

The parking and traffic problems connected with driving the bridges are a nuisance too.

What we need is both methods of transportation so that those who aren't in a big rush can leave the car at home and take a leisurely ride to the city on our beautiful bay.

Polio Law Violates Freedom

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The school children are now being compelled to be immunized against polio according to the new state law. Parents are now being sent forms to show evidence of at least one polio shot per child or an objection to immunization.

I fall into neither category and feel my American right of voluntary medicine has been violated. The following is a copy of the note I attached to the form:

"You have reserved no category for the many people like me who do not object to immunization but do seriously object to the principle of the state dictating to a parent what medication his child shall have before being admitted to schools (which, incidentally, is a right guaranteed to all children in the state of California). Compulsory medication is deleterious to the freedoms of the American citizen and negates our right of voluntary choice. It is a principle which robs the parent of his inherent right and responsibility over the health of the child. The mere fact of 'allowing' or 'permitting' the child's entrance to school on the written objection of a parent, nothwithstanding. This is subtle coercion.

"As a registered nurse for 25 years, am naturally enthusiastic about all preventive medicine, especially Salk vaccine, a fact which can be attested to on the enclosed form denoting that my five children have been inoculated for all major diseases including polio. But as a parent, I feel that our parental rights have been placed in jeopardy; nay removed.

"The history of preventive medicine dramatically shows the many communicable diseases which have been drastically reduced or completely eradicated by vountary immunizations; viz: smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and tetanus, to name a few.

"I have complete faith in the ability of the medical world to educate the American people to the point where each parent realizes the good sense of immunization. True, it may take a little longer, but it will preserve our freedoms intact. The removal of our freedoms is a far greater threat than the incidence of polio.

"Now that this law is an accomplished fact, please revise your forms to allow every parent to express himself re compulsory immunization —at least until the law is removed from the books."

REMEMBER WHEN?

20 YEARS AGO

Mill Valley received great praise for adopting a "fill and cover" system of garbage disposal, useful in reclamation of marsh land and preventing littering of the landscape.

A cut rate over the Golden Gate Bridge from 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. was proposed by bridge director William Hadeter, finance committee chairman. Another idea from Director Nathan Coombs was to establish a special 72-hour round trip rate.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

This story still is number one on the Alaska Anecdotal Wit Parade. A tenderfoot from Oregon appeared in a North Alaskan bar and inquired, "What does a fellow have to do to be a citizen around here?" "Three things," the bartender informed him. "First, you have to drink a quart of whiskey at one gulp; second, you have to kiss an Eskimo, and third, you have to shoot a polar bear."

Forthwith, the tenderfoot downed a quart of whiskey, then reeled out into the arctic night. He was back in the bar night. He was back in the bar two hours later, his face scratched and bleeding and his clothes in tatters. "Okay, men," he rasped. "Now where's that Eskimo I have to shoot?"

According to an oriental legend, a desert traveler met Fear and Plague who announced that they were headed for Bagdad where they expected to kill 10,000 people.

The horrified traveler asked Plague, "Will you do all the killing?" "Oh, no," answered Plague, "I won't kill more than a hundred. My friend Fear here will kill all the rest!"

Who Lost Election For GOP? "Republicans" Panel Declares

WASHINGTON—Does the Republican party face another long period of minority status? With its dismal record of winning only two of the last 15 Congressional elections and electing a Republican President only twice in 30 years. This question has to be raised.

The most thoughtful Republican leaders are asking themselves this disturbing question. Fortunately, when it comes to appraising the Kennedy-Nixon Presidential election, they are looking straight in the mirror—not searching for scapegoats.

A panel of able Republican professionals, headed by National Committeeman Ray Bliss of Ohio, have just reported their unanimous judgment on who was guilty of losing the '60 election. Their verdict: the Republicans were guilty—primarily the hollow shell, the empty facade, the nearly non-existent, non-breathing Republican organization in most of the big cities and suburbs.

HERE ARE THE facts on which this Bliss panel based its conclusion:

Of the 41 cities over 300,000, the Republicans carried only 14. Nearly all of these were in the South and West .In seven states carried by John Kennedy — New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, and Illinois—the Republicans built up pluralities totaling 1,563,992 outside the metropolitan areas only to have them vanish through Democratic pluralities of 2,260,062 in the big cities.

Take Michigan. Nixon carried 70 of the 83 counties with a majority of 244,880. Detroit gave the state to Kennedy by 66,000. Nixon lost 20 electoral votes there.

And Illinois. Nixon amassed a 447,454 plurality outside Chicago. Kennedy's Chicago margin was a huge 456,312 and Nixon lost another 27 electoral votes by 8,858.

THE SAME in Pennsylvania and Missouri. This is why the panel could tell the Republican National Committee in Oklahoma City:

"If we had amassed a respectable Republican percentage in those four big cities (Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, and St. Louis), we would have carried these four states and that would have made the electoral vote total read: Nixon 311, Kennedy 211, Byrd 15."

Is the Republican outlook hopeless? Certainly not. Richard Nixon, carrying 26 states to Kennedy's 24, came within one-half of one per cent of winning a majority of the total vote—34,108,474 to 34,221,531.

Actually Nixon received more Republican party votes than Kennedy received Democratic votes in view of the fact that Kennedy's total was boosted by more than 400,000 Liberal party votes in New York.

THE REPUBLICANS are making a good beginning in focussing clearly on where they lost the 1960 Presidential and Congressional elections—in the major centers of population in the major states.

They are producing a useful, though only partial, answer as to why they lost—Republicans vote but do not work where it most counts, and the party organization is feeble and futile.

This Is The Lovable Herbert Wyatt His Son Idolized

Herbert D. Wyatt, losing weight and strength, learned Dec. 1 he had cancer and Dec. 6 he entered Swedish Hospital in Seattle.

Surgery was Dec. 7 and I, but not he, learned the thing had "spread to the liver and his time is limited."

I flew up and saw him Dec. 17 on cue from schoolmate and fellow newspaperman Jim Long, now the Rev. James G. Long Jr., vicar of St. George's Episcopal Church.

Herb Wyatt was frail but alert and of equable humor and once he told a nurse, "You know, you're very pretty."

He lasted into New Year's Eve, Jim flashed me and I flew up New Year's Day.

On Jan. 4 Long conducted the burial office before a gathering of friends in and out of the lighting fixture craft.

THUS IN DAYS were punctuated 83 years, 50 of them in Seattle. He settled in Seattle after serving as a helper to the men who strung the first phone lines in Alaska.

He was born in Ontario, Canada, and migrated to Chicago where at 15 he managed a bicycle shop and got his nose flattened fighting off bullies who jumped his younger brother Fred.

There were also an older brother, Walter, and a sister, Annie. Father outlived them all. The sister reared the family. The father, Daniel, was an inventor. My father went only as far as the fourth grade in school but was better informed than most college graduates.

In his final store, Wyatt's Lamp Shop, a contentious or otherwise obnoxious customer was likely to hear my father quote from Aristotle, Cicero or Benjamin Franklin. Or he might say quietly, "I would just as soon you took your business somewhere else."

This shop, a one-man enterprise, he started after World War II. It was the one that put him in the black. Customers were sent by Frederick & Nelson and others. He had reverses in the 1920s and 1930s.

FIERCELY INDEPENDENT, he preferred steering his own ship, and he sold his last store and retired in June, 1960, only after forced by his several ailments.

Earlier he had been one of the top chandelier makers of Puget Sound. His successive firms had put lighting fixtures in many homes, auditoriums and theaters. In these firms I had served from age 14 to 21.

I was just turned 21 and in my second year as a reporter on the University of Washington Daily when he came to the campus and said, "The car is at 45th and 15th. Give it to the loan shark." Dick Stephens, now of the Post-Intelligencer, with whom I stayed on this visit, rode downtown with me.

Now the fiscal affairs of Herb Wyatt, long free of loan sharks, are being put in order under direction of former King County Prosecuting Atty. Robert M. Burgunder, his genial friend in Nile Temple of the Shrine.

Father recently completed 50 years in St. John's Lodge No. 9 of the Masons and Chapter 3 of the Royal Arch Masons. He had belonged to the Shrine and to Commandery No. 2 of the Knights Templar since 1925.

To members of these orders and to other friends I have thanks to communicate for their attentions recently and through the years.

I NEVER GOT HIM to retell some adventures for a tape recorder. I had wanted to emulate Gene Fowler who did so well by his father in "A Solo in Tom Toms" and other books.

I can't hold a candle to Gene but I stayed more than once with him and his wife Agnes. On one of my final visits Gene said with a laugh, "I've always written of death as an enemy. Maybe he isn't. Maybe he's a friend."

Gene, like my father a romper in earlier days, battled heart attacks four years. Now death has Gene Fowler and Herb Wyatt. Gene asked that he be remembered with happy thoughts. My father would have wanted the same.

The corner butcher said that just before entering the hospital this time, my father, barely able to walk, pointed to a departing woman customer who had pretended not to recognize him after having borrowed $7 in his store. My father laughed. "You know—the funny thing is, she could have had $20 if she had asked for it."

This is the Herb Wyatt friends knew. This is the Herb Wyatt I have before me.

Even A World's Fair Joins In Redwood Empire Plans

It's a habit in many localities to predict rosy increases in tourist travel due to the increased sales of automobiles. Some even still cite the five-day week as reasons why the world on wheels is heading for their areas.

It is the practice of the Redwood Empire Association to give some study to such trends—but throughout its busy history of stimulating travel along the North Coast, REA has depended more upon long range planning to make the Redwood Empire more attractive to visitors.

This is with no myopic viewpoint, either. The fact that Oregon, Washington or British Columbia are holding important civic events isn't taken as an affront to the Redwood Empire. Instead, REA joins in promoting the other area's events, knowing that our great North Coast can be visited—either coming or going—by those attending the big event elsewhere.

A current example is this year's Seattle World's Fair, now receiving attention nationally and internationally. Helping Seattle realize its hope of 10 million World's Fair visitors will receive special attention at tomorrow's REA quarterly executive board meeting at Ignacio.

It's constructive planning, too, for it is a safe bet that 25 per cent of those attending the World's Fair will be Californians. And most of these will travel the Redwood Highway. Supplementing the Californians will be those from other sections who plan California visits.

But the Seattle Fair is just one factor in the outlook for even greater use of 101. Added attractions this year will be two large new man-made lakes, through new dams resulting from construction at Berryessa and Mendocino. Camping, motel life, boating and increased fishing are among the many new results. Add to these the universal appeal of the mighty redwoods, the Oregon Caves, the reviving popularity of Russian River, Clear Lake, and other resorts, fishing on the Klamath and other rivers, the wineries — and the lure is even more irresistable.

However, smug pride in such priceless attractions is not enough. The increased flow of tourists doesn't just happen in the Redwood Empire. REA has for years aggressively told the world about the area—and this will be an important part of tomorrow's all-day session at Rickey's Rancho San Rafael.

Plans for the year's advertising program will receive major attention, with photos, news stories, newspaper and magazine advertising and billboards all will carry a Redwood Empire-Seattle Fair tiein—with reciprocal activity out of Seattle. Reports on the association's beaches and parks study, and co-ordination of special events in our nine-county area all further the travel program.

The Redwood Empire Association never was a coterie of dreamers. Alert business men, active in their communities from San Francisco to Grants Pass, are aware of the growing dollar value of Redwood Empire promotion. So tomorrow's meeting will bring together many leaders of the area, all with worthwhile plans for making 1962 the greatest year in Highway 101 history.

THREE MINUTES A DAY

LIGHT DIDN'T STAY GREEN

A highly original excuse was given by one traffic violator in Tucson, Arizona, not long ago.

When a policeman saw a woman drive through a red light, he signalled her to the curb and asked: "Why did you go through that red light?"

"Well, it wasn't my fault," she replied. "It changed before I got there."

Often we look at things only from our own selfish point of view—a dangerous habit which may distort our thinking.

If this failing is not checked, we can make extravagant and unfair allowances in favor of self and block out the rightful consideration that we should show to others.

Whether it involves driving a car, running a home, writing an article, fulfilling a contract or speaking about others, make sure to think things through fairly and justly.

Then you will keep the other person's point of view in mind as well as your own.

"As you wish men to do to you, so also do you to them." (Luke 6:31)

Help me, O Father, to put myself in the place of the other person.

A New Group Takes Up The California Planning Puzzle

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Publication of a report entitled "California Going, Going . . ." by an organization known as "California Tomorrow" is serving to point up some of the major problems in planning now extant in this state.

The report, financed privately, outlines the state's struggle to remain beautiful and productive against tremendous odds.

Primarily, the lack of coordinated planning between government agencies at all levels, and the resultant blots on the landscape, usage of good city land for parking purposes, and removal of vast acreages of fine agricultural land for suburbs and freeways, are stressed.

Obviously, most of the changes effected in California during the past three decades have been changes that were inescapable. The public needs highways upon which to travel, houses in which to live, industrial plants in which to work, places in which to play.

RECOGNIZING THIS to be a fact, no conclusion can be reached other than that it is unfortunate "California Tomorrow" was not started 30 years ago.

Even so, the mistakes of the past may be at least partially corrected by the actions of the future, and this is what the organization is attempting to bring to attention of the state.

ONE OF THE FIRST to recognize the problem was Jesse M. Unruh (D-Inglewood), speaker of the Assembly.

"After reading this report," he said, "I intend to recommend its study by appropriate Assembly committees, so that the issues raised can be up before the 1963 legislature.

"Unless we put a great deal more effort into the planned and co-ordinated development of our highways, our waterworks, our urban growth and our recreation facilities, we will find ourselves spending twice for everything—once to get the job done; a second time to do it the way it should have been done in the first place."

Need Bridges And Ferries

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The I-J missed the point in its editorial describing all the inconveniences connected with the old ferry boats.

Everything said was true, but nobody has suggested tearing down the bridges and returning to that limited transportation.

The parking and traffic problems connected with driving the bridges are a nuisance too.

What we need is both methods of transportation so that those who aren't in a big rush can leave the car at home and take a leisurely ride to the city on our beautiful bay.

Polio Law Violates Freedom

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

The school children are now being compelled to be immunized against polio according to the new state law. Parents are now being sent forms to show evidence of at least one polio shot per child or an objection to immunization.

I fall into neither category and feel my American right of voluntary medicine has been violated. The following is a copy of the note I attached to the form:

"You have reserved no category for the many people like me who do not object to immunization but do seriously object to the principle of the state dictating to a parent what medication his child shall have before being admitted to schools (which, incidentally, is a right guaranteed to all children in the state of California). Compulsory medication is deleterious to the freedoms of the American citizen and negates our right of voluntary choice. It is a principle which robs the parent of his inherent right and responsibility over the health of the child. The mere fact of 'allowing' or 'permitting' the child's entrance to school on the written objection of a parent, nothwithstanding. This is subtle coercion.

"As a registered nurse for 25 years, am naturally enthusiastic about all preventive medicine, especially Salk vaccine, a fact which can be attested to on the enclosed form denoting that my five children have been inoculated for all major diseases including polio. But as a parent, I feel that our parental rights have been placed in jeopardy; nay removed.

"The history of preventive medicine dramatically shows the many communicable diseases which have been drastically reduced or completely eradicated by vountary immunizations; viz: smallpox, typhoid fever, diphtheria, scarlet fever, whooping cough and tetanus, to name a few.

"I have complete faith in the ability of the medical world to educate the American people to the point where each parent realizes the good sense of immunization. True, it may take a little longer, but it will preserve our freedoms intact. The removal of our freedoms is a far greater threat than the incidence of polio.

"Now that this law is an accomplished fact, please revise your forms to allow every parent to express himself re compulsory immunization —at least until the law is removed from the books."

REMEMBER WHEN?

20 YEARS AGO

Mill Valley received great praise for adopting a "fill and cover" system of garbage disposal, useful in reclamation of marsh land and preventing littering of the landscape.

A cut rate over the Golden Gate Bridge from 7 p.m. to 5 a.m. was proposed by bridge director William Hadeter, finance committee chairman. Another idea from Director Nathan Coombs was to establish a special 72-hour round trip rate.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

This story still is number one on the Alaska Anecdotal Wit Parade. A tenderfoot from Oregon appeared in a North Alaskan bar and inquired, "What does a fellow have to do to be a citizen around here?" "Three things," the bartender informed him. "First, you have to drink a quart of whiskey at one gulp; second, you have to kiss an Eskimo, and third, you have to shoot a polar bear."

Forthwith, the tenderfoot downed a quart of whiskey, then reeled out into the arctic night. He was back in the bar night. He was back in the bar two hours later, his face scratched and bleeding and his clothes in tatters. "Okay, men," he rasped. "Now where's that Eskimo I have to shoot?"

According to an oriental legend, a desert traveler met Fear and Plague who announced that they were headed for Bagdad where they expected to kill 10,000 people.

The horrified traveler asked Plague, "Will you do all the killing?" "Oh, no," answered Plague, "I won't kill more than a hundred. My friend Fear here will kill all the rest!"

Who Lost Election For GOP? "Republicans" Panel Declares

WASHINGTON—Does the Republican party face another long period of minority status? With its dismal record of winning only two of the last 15 Congressional elections and electing a Republican President only twice in 30 years. This question has to be raised.

The most thoughtful Republican leaders are asking themselves this disturbing question. Fortunately, when it comes to appraising the Kennedy-Nixon Presidential election, they are looking straight in the mirror—not searching for scapegoats.

A panel of able Republican professionals, headed by National Committeeman Ray Bliss of Ohio, have just reported their unanimous judgment on who was guilty of losing the '60 election. Their verdict: the Republicans were guilty—primarily the hollow shell, the empty facade, the nearly non-existent, nonbreathing Republican organization in most of the big cities and suburbs.

HERE ARE THE facts on which this Bliss panel based its conclusion:

Of the 41 cities over 300,000, the Republicans carried only 14. Nearly all of these were in the South and West .In seven states carried by John Kennedy — New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Maryland, Michigan, Minnesota, and Illinois—the Republicans built up pluralities totaling 1,563,992 outside the metropolitan areas only to have them vanish through Democratic pluralities of 2,260,062 in the big cities.

Take Michigan. Nixon carried 70 of the 83 counties with a majority of 244,880. Detroit gave the state to Kennedy by 66,000. Nixon lost 20 electoral votes there.

And Illinois. Nixon amassed a 447,454 plurality outside Chicago. Kennedy's Chicago margin was a huge 456,312 and Nixon lost another 27 electoral votes by 8,858.

THE SAME in Pennsylvania and Missouri. This is why the panel could tell the Republican National Committee in Oklahoma City:

"If we had amassed a respectable Republican percentage in those four big cities (Detroit, Chicago, Philadelphia, and St. Louis), we would have carried these four states and that would have made the electoral vote total read: Nixon 311, Kennedy 211, Byrd 15."

Is the Republican outlook hopeless? Certainly not. Richard Nixon, carrying 26 states to Kennedy's 24, came within one-half of one per cent of winning a majority of the total vote—34,108,474 to 34,221,531.

Actually Nixon received more Republican party votes than Kennedy received Democratic votes in view of the fact that Kennedy's total was boosted by more than 400,000 Liberal party votes in New York.

THE REPUBLICANS are making a good beginning in focussing clearly on where they lost the 1960 Presidential and Congressional elections—in the major centers of population in the major states.

They are producing a useful, though only partial, answer as to why they lost—Republicans vote but do not work where it most counts, and the party organization is feeble and futile.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds, returned a low trump to the ace and led out the king of trumps.

West discarded a heart, and South turned every bit as pink as West's discard. He had already "blown" the hand, and he could imagine the sympathetic comments he would get from everybody at the table.

There was still a chance to recover if West had the ace of hearts. South hopefully led a heart but East won, drew two more rounds of trumps and ran the diamonds. Down three!

SYMPATHY: "You're playing better than usual," dummy commented dryly.

"Not at all," a kibitzer objected. "There's a player in Mexico City who could have found a way to go down four."

Clearly there was no need for South to go down three. In fact, he should have made his contract by a very simple play.

When declarer leads a trump from dummy at the second trick, he should play low from his hand. This costs nothing, since one trump trick must be lost even if the suit breaks favorably.

East wins and returns a second trump to declarer's king. South now leads a heart to force out the ace. East returns a trump to the ace. South can now lead a club to the queen and run dummy's hearts. East can get his other trump trick, but nothing else.

Thyroid Hormones Aiding Long Life?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Regarding the future chances for people living longer than they live now and to remain healthily active in old age, there were only nine deaths in the past two years among 256 persons who had been taking large doses of thyroid hormone daily for five years or more.

None had had much life expectancy because of marked "hardening" of the arteries. The theory behind the statistics is that plentiful dosing with thyroid hormone preserves aging arteries by correcting imbalances in body chemistry which are provoked by aging.

What this shows in regard to longevity is a matter for conjecture. However, in the view of the physician who prescribed all this thyroid for so many people for so long a time, it at least shows the hormone is completely safe for prolonged medicinal use when "de-fanged" chemically.

Many doctors doubt it can be really "de-fanged." It is a natural body chemical, secreted by the thyroid gland. Any given from the outside as medicine is added to the natural supply. In body chemistry it has enormous potency. A very little goes a long way.

It regulates intricate and continuous chemical processes which add up to vigorous health when they're going well. Too much of it produces alarming "side effects." However, there is some scientific evidence that the thyroid gland secretes less and less hormone as it ages.

Dr. Murray Israel bases himself on this evidence, and also upon evidence that thyroid hormone prevents the depositing of cholesterol in artery linings when enough of it is available to body chemistry. Excessive cholesterol deposits is a prime "hardener" of arteries.

The statistics come from Israel's annual report as medical director of the Vascular Research Foundation which was established in 1948 to back his studies of thyroid. For 25 years he had been contending that the hormone is "defanged" by the vitamins which work within normal body chemistry.

Not just any vitamins, mind, but specific ones of the "B" group. Israel reported his research patients had taken three million grains of thyroid by mouth and had received over 43,800 injections of it into their veins. Always it was accompanied by carefully calculated vitamin mixtures. Nevertheless those totals are staggering to orthodox medicine.

Some of Israel's research patients have been taking thyroid daily for over 20 years. The average length of daily doses was 11.9 years. Only four are under 40 and only 29 under 50; 75 are between 50 and 59, 82 between 60 and 69, 45 between 70 and 79, and 12 between 80 and 89. None has ever had any serious or lasting "side effect."

The nine deaths were among the upper age brackets. Israel granted life-prolonging could not be proved. Yet life-prolonging certainly could be assumed because of the sorry state of many of the patients when they began with vitamins - enclosing thyroid, he said. The surviving research patients are in vigorous health, he added, and so were the nine who died — up to their last days.

Boost In U.S. Incomes Needed For Economy

NEW YORK (AP)—Can the economy grow fast enough and individuals and corporations prosper enough to give President John F. Kennedy a balanced budget?

Kennedy put Americans on notice in his State of the Union message he expects them to make more money in the next year or so.

He needs this income increase to get the tax collections that would turn this year's budget deficit into balanced books in fiscal 1963, starting July 1, despite the rise in expenditures called for in his proposals to Congress covering old and new federal programs.

Chief gains in Treasury collections must come from taxes on individual income and corporate income. Since by and large the rates will be the same, more income from greater prosperity is the expectation if the budget balance is achieved.

And times will have to be good indeed. The nation already was well-prepared for a budget expenditure in excess of 92 billion dollars. Since revenues in the current fiscal year are currently estimated at 82 billion dollars, these will have to rise more than 10 billion to do the balancing trick.

Kennedy obviously thinks the economy can grow that much. Many business men have gone along with this prediction. Only a minority sees chances it may not. Perhaps most prefer to wait and see.

Most current statistics show the economy as a whole on the upbeat, with a lull now and then, since last March. The momentum in the industrial sector was picking up at the end of 1961. The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial output hit a record of 115 per cent of the 1957 average in December. This compares with a recession low of 102 per cent last February. The outlook was for a further rise this month, when the figures are digested.

Personal income totals, on which the Treasury bases its largest single tax take, also were rising.

Most industry leaders have predicted the momentum of business activity should carry through to the middle of the year at least. While many companies complain about the pinch of rising operating costs on profits, the majority of predictions call for higher corporate profits, at least in the first half of 1962. The corporate income tax on most of this will be 52 per cent, so the Treasury should prosper.

Employment is high, even if unemployment is still a stubborn problem. Personal income from industry, trade and the services should rise further, from more jobs, longer work weeks, higher wage scales in many instances. So the Treasury should collect more through personal income taxes.

It is in mid-1963 that the questions arise. Some worry about the momentum of the present upswing petering out about then. Others worry about the possibility of a steel strike next summer and what that could do to the economy. The administration is trying to avert that by urging both labor and management to work out a new steel contract well in advance of the deadline.

Officers Elected By Kennel Club

Paul Putnam of Novato has been re-elected president of the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club.

Other officers elected for 1962 were Mrs. Isabella Cheda of San Rafael, first vice president; Gavin Pelling of Novato, second vice president; Mrs. Faye McCann of Fairfax, recording secretary, Mrs. Nora Randolph of Stinson Beach, corresponding secretary, and Arthur Soff of Mill Valley, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Blair of Novato, Mrs. Verna Vargas of Belvedere, Bill Brosnan of Mill Valley, Mrs. Carol Simons of Santa Venetia and Mrs. Margo Durney of San Rafael were elected as the board of directors.

Medic Society Given Board Confidence Vote

Assurance was given the Medical Society Review Committee by Marin County supervisors Tuesday that it is the supervisors' intention henceforth to utilize the committee and follow its recommendations.

The board voted confidence in the committee after learning from Administrator Alan Bruce that the committee is reluctant to process 12 pending cases "due to an impression on its part that the board of supervisors did not accept fully its recommendations on a prior group of cases."

Oil and gas are so difficult to find that the industry is investing five billion dollars a year in developing new supplies.

Declarer won the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds, returned a low trump to the ace and led out the king of trumps.

West discarded a heart, and South turned every bit as pink as West's discard. He had already "blown" the hand, and he could imagine the sympathetic comments he would get from everybody at the table.

There was still a chance to recover if West had the ace of hearts. South hopefully led a heart but East won, drew two more rounds of trumps and ran the diamonds. Down three!

SYMPATHY: "You're playing better than usual," dummy commented dryly.

"Not at all," a kibitzer objected. "There's a player in Mexico City who could have found a way to go down four."

Clearly there was no need for South to go down three. In fact, he should have made his contract by a very simple play.

When declarer leads a trump from dummy at the second trick, he should play low from his hand. This costs nothing, since one trump trick must be lost even if the suit breaks favorably.

East wins and returns a second trump to declarer's king. South now leads a heart to force out the ace. East returns a trump to the ace. South can now lead a club to the queen and run dummy's hearts. East can get his other trump trick, but nothing else.

Answer: Bid two diamonds. You intend to show the spade support next, thus showing a hand that is too strong for a single raise but not strong enough for a double raise.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Thyroid Hormones Aiding Long Life?

NEW YORK (UPI)—Regarding the future chances for people living longer than they live now and to remain healthily active in old age, there were only nine deaths in the past two years among 256 persons who had been taking large doses of thyroid hormone daily for five years or more.

None had had much life expectancy because of marked "hardening" of the arteries. The theory behind the statistics is that plentiful dosing with thyroid hormone preserves aging arteries by correcting imbalances in body chemistry which are provoked by aging.

What this shows in regard to longevity is a matter for conjecture. However, in the view of the physician who prescribed all this thyroid for so many people for so long a time, it at least shows the hormone is completely safe for prolonged medicinal use when "de-fanged" chemically.

Many doctors doubt it can be really "de-fanged." It is a natural body chemical, secreted by the thyroid gland. Any given from the outside as medicine is added to the natural supply. In body chemistry it has enormous potency. A very little goes a long way.

It regulates intricate and continuous chemical processes which add up to vigorous health when they're going well. Too much of it produces alarming "side effects." However, there is some scientific evidence that the thyroid gland secretes less and less hormone as it ages.

Dr. Murray Israel bases himself on this evidence, and also upon evidence that thyroid hormone prevents the depositing of cholesterol in artery linings when enough of it is available to body chemistry. Excessive cholesterol deposits is a prime "hardener" of arteries.

The statistics come from Israel's annual report as medical director of the Vascular Research Foundation which was established in 1948 to back his studies of thyroid. For 25 years he had been contending that the hormone is "defanged" by the vitamins which work within normal body chemistry.

Not just any vitamins, mind, but specific ones of the "B" group. Israel reported his research patients had taken three million grains of thyroid by mouth and had received over 43,800 injections of it into their veins. Always it was accompanied by carefully calculated vitamin mixtures. Nevertheless those totals are staggering to orthodox medicine.

Some of Israel's research patients have been taking thyroid daily for over 20 years. The average length of daily doses was 11.9 years. Only four are under 40 and only 29 under 50; 75 are between 50 and 59, 82 between 60 and 69, 45 between 70 and 79, and 12 between 80 and 89. None has ever had any serious or lasting "side effect."

The nine deaths were among the upper age brackets. Israel granted life-prolonging could not be proved. Yet life-prolonging certainly could be assumed because of the sorry state of many of the patients when they began with vitamins-enclosing thyroid, he said. The surviving research patients are in vigorous health, he added, and so were the nine who died — up to their last days.

Boost In U.S. Incomes Needed For Economy

NEW YORK (AP)—Can the economy grow fast enough and individuals and corporations prosper enough to give President John F. Kennedy a balanced budget?

Kennedy put Americans on notice in his State of the Union message he expects them to make more money in the next year or so.

He needs this income increase to get the tax collections that would turn this year's budget deficit into balanced books in fiscal 1963, starting July 1, despite the rise in expenditures called for in his proposals to Congress covering old and new federal programs.

Chief gains in Treasury collections must come from taxes on individual income and corporate income. Since by and large the rates will be the same, more income from greater prosperity is the expectation if the budget balance is achieved.

And times will have to be good indeed. The nation already was well-prepared for a budget expenditure in excess of 92 billion dollars. Since revenues in the current fiscal year are currently estimated at 82 billion dollars, these will have to rise more than 10 billion to do the balancing trick.

Kennedy obviously thinks the economy can grow that much. Many business men have gone along with this prediction. Only a minority sees chances it may not. Perhaps most prefer to wait and see.

Most current statistics show the economy as a whole on the upbeat, with a lull now and then, since last March. The momentum in the industrial sector was picking up at the end of 1961. The Federal Reserve Board's index of industrial output hit a record of 115 per cent of the 1957 average in December. This compares with a recession low of 102 per cent last February. The outlook was for a further rise this month, when the figures are digested.

Personal income totals, on which the Treasury bases its largest single tax take, also were rising.

Most industry leaders have predicted the momentum of business activity should carry through to the middle of the year at least. While many companies complain about the pinch of rising operating costs on profits, the majority of predictions call for higher corporate profits, at least in the first half of 1962. The corporate income tax on most of this will be 52 per cent, so the Treasury should prosper.

Employment is high, even if unemployment is still a stubborn problem. Personal income from industry, trade and the services should rise further, from more jobs, longer work weeks, higher wage scales in many instances. So the Treasury should collect more through personal income taxes.

It is in mid-1963 that the questions arise. Some worry about the momentum of the present upswing petering out about then. Others worry about the possibility of a steel strike next summer and what that could do to the economy. The administration is trying to avert that by urging both labor and management to work out a new steel contract well in advance of the deadline.

Officers Elected By Kennel Club

Paul Putnam of Novato has been re-elected president of the Sir Francis Drake Kennel Club.

Other officers elected for 1962 were Mrs. Isabella Cheda of San Rafael, first vice president; Gavin Pelling of Novato, second vice president; Mrs. Faye McCann of Fairfax, recording secretary, Mrs. Nora Randolph of Stinson Beach, corresponding secretary, and Arthur Soff of Mill Valley, treasurer.

Mrs. Helen Blair of Novato, Mrs. Verna Vargas of Belvedere, Bill Brosnan of Mill Valley, Mrs. Carol Simons of Santa Venetia and Mrs. Margo Durney of San Rafael were elected as the board of directors.

Medic Society Given Board Confidence Vote

Assurance was given the Medical Society Review Committee by Marin County supervisors Tuesday that it is the supervisors' intention henceforth to utilize the committee and follow its recommendations.

The board voted confidence in the committee after learning from Administrator Alan Bruce that the committee is reluctant to process 12 pending cases "due to an impression on its part that the board of supervisors did not accept fully its recommendations on a prior group of cases."

Oil and gas are so difficult to find that the industry is investing five billion dollars a year in developing new supplies.

NEW SPORT FURRY BY PLYMOUTH

This convertible is one of two models in the new top-of-the-line Sport Fury series, also available as a two-door hardtop. Bucket seats, special grille and molding treatment distinguish it from other Plymouths. The car will be available in Marin at Jack Hunt and Rossi Garage showrooms in San Rafael.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)

By HARRY CRAFT

Savings And Loan Companies Rapidly Moving Into County

Savings and loan companies—Marin County seems destined to have additions to this field of business as rapidly as the California Savings and Loan Commissioner's office in Sacramento will allow.

The new Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn. in Corte Madera feted its opening last week with a special luncheon at Bob's of Marin Restaurant. Present were numerous other savings and loan officials from Marin and outside the county, bank officials and local notables.

Tamalpais Savings president John Anton gave credit to state officials who, he said, had gone out of their way to help the new organization get started and show it the way to make business grow.

Application for the Novato Savings and Loan Assn. was approved in Sacramento last week, and Novato will have its first business of this kind about March, when the office is expected to open on Grant Avenue west of the highway.

JOSEPH B. RICE of Ignacio and president of the J. B. Rice Co., Inc., in San Rafael, will be president of the firm; John J. Angeloni automobile dealer and member of the Novato City Council is secretary; Dr. Ralph J. Weseman of Novato has been named as treasurer. Well localized since Everett Pozzi and Gordon Walker, directors, are also Novato men; only John Russell of Kentfield and Andrew Kopperud of San Rafael, the other directors, are "foreigners."

It has been stated that pledges from about 400 persons to open savings accounts totaling more than $700,000 have been received.

Charter applications from Home Mutual Savings and Loan and Ross Valley Savings and Loan for Novato branches were denied. They'll have to wait awhile.

CHANGING CONSUMER SPENDING. All things change, including public tastes. This, with higher incomes and larger families, are causing shifts in the manner the take-home dollar is spent.

More is now put out for housing, medical care, recreation, interest on loans, donations and education than was spent by the average family five years ago.

Less is spent for food, clothing, jewelry, liquor, automobiles and transportation.

Education costs, for example, are rising with the increased number of young people arriving at college age.

CHRYSLER - PLYMOUTH DIVISION has introduced a limited edition Sport Fury in its 1962 line—available either as a two-door hardtop or convertible. Performance tests are said to show gains of 8 per cent in the zero to 60 and 90-mph ranges over the 1961 Plymouth Fury, when powered by the optional 305-horsepower V-8 engine. Standard equipment is a 230-horsepower V-8.

Other standard equipment includes bucket seats with metal console, padded instrument panel and special decorative features.

The car will be sold in Marin by San Rafael dealers Jack Hunt and Rossi Garage.

SCOOTER'S PET COTTAGE, 1121 Grant Avenue, Novato, has been purchased from Betty Siler, we understand, by George and Molly Weatherstone, who live at the Skylark Motel in Ignacio. Mrs. Weatherstone will conduct the operation.

Firehouse Offered —If Merger Wins

Should consolidation of Homestead Valley and Tamalpais Valley fire protection districts be voted next Tuesday, members of the opposition group would be willing to contribute the firehouse in Homestead Valley to the district.

Ove Johnson, speaking against the merger, gave this assurance to an audience of 100 at a meeting of the Homestead Valley Improvement Club Tuesday night in Brown's Hall. The firehouse has been one of the "stumbling blocks" in the proposed consolidation, since some volunteers preferred that it not be given to the combined district.

Johnson, however, urged that Homestead Valley retain its independent fire-fighting force with its own paid full-time fireman. He pointed out it would be possible for five fire commissioners to be elected from one district, thus giving improper representation.

Homestead Valley Fire Commissioner Carl Modell, advocating the merger, claimed consolidation would make possible 24-hour skilled coverage of the entire area from two stations. He said it would reduce the tax rate in both valleys.

Fred E. Kaiser of the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau has indicated the merger would benefit both areas, said club President Jo Schlesinger.

NEW SPORT FURRY BY PLYMOUTH

This convertible is one of two models in the new top-of-the-line Sport Fury series, also available as a two-door hardtop. Bucket seats, special grille and molding treatment distinguish it from other Plymouths. The car will be available in Marin at Jack Hunt and Rossi Garage showrooms in San Rafael.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

(A Thrice-Weekly Column)
By HARRY CRAFT

Savings And Loan Companies Rapidly Moving Into County

Savings and loan companies—Marin County seems destined to have additions to this field of business as rapidly as the California Savings and Loan Commissioner's office in Sacramento will allow.

The new Tamalpais Savings and Loan Assn. in Corte Madera feted its opening last week with a special luncheon at Bob's of Marin Restaurant. Present were numerous other savings and loan officials from Marin and outside the county, bank officials and local notables.

Tamalpais Savings president John Anton gave credit to state officials who, he said, had gone out of their way to help the new organization get started and show it the way to make business grow.

Application for the Novato Savings and Loan Assn. was approved in Sacramento last week, and Novato will have its first business of this kind about March, when the office is expected to open on Grant Avenue west of the highway.

JOSEPH B. RICE of Ignacio and president of the J. B. Rice Co., Inc., in San Rafael, will be president of the firm; John J. Angeloni automobile dealer and member of the Novato City Council is secretary; Dr. Ralph J. Weseman of Novato has been named as treasurer. Well localized since Everett Pozzi and Gordon Walker, directors, are also Novato men; only John Russell of Kentfield and Andrew Kopperud of San Rafael, the other directors, are "foreigners."

It has been stated that pledges from about 400 persons to open savings accounts totaling more than $700,000 have been received.

Charter applications from Home Mutual Savings and Loan and Ross Valley Savings and Loan for Novato branches were denied. They'll have to wait awhile.

CHANGING CONSUMER SPENDING. All things change, including public tastes. This, with higher incomes and larger families, are causing shifts in the manner the take-home dollar is spent.

More is now put out for housing, medical care, recreation, interest on loans, donations and education than was spent by the average family five years ago.

Less is spent for food, clothing, jewelry, liquor, automobiles and transportation.

Education costs, for example, are rising with the increased number of young people arriving at college age.

CHRYSLER-PLYMOUTH DIVISION has introduced a limited edition Sport Fury in its 1962 line—available either as a two-door hardtop or convertible. Performance tests are said to show gains of 8 per cent in the zero to 60 and 90-mph ranges over the 1961 Plymouth Fury, when powered by the optional 305-horsepower V-8 engine. Standard equipment is a 230-horsepower V-8.

Other standard equipment includes bucket seats with metal console, padded instrument panel and special decorative features.

The car will be sold in Marin by San Rafael dealers Jack Hunt and Rossi Garage.

SCOOTER'S PET COTTAGE, 1121 Grant Avenue, Novato, has been purchased from Betty Siler, we understand, by George and Molly Weatherstone, who live at the Skylark Motel in Ignacio. Mrs. Weatherstone will conduct the operation.

Firehouse Offered —If Merger Wins

Should consolidation of Homestead Valley and Tamalpais Valley fire protection districts be voted next Tuesday, members of the opposition group would be willing to contribute the firehouse in Homestead Valley to the district.

Ove Johnson, speaking against the merger, gave this assurance to an audience of 100 at a meeting of the Homestead Valley Improvement Club Tuesday night in Brown's Hall. The firehouse has been one of the "stumbling blocks" in the proposed consolidation, since some volunteers preferred that it not be given to the combined district.

Johnson, however, urged that Homestead Valley retain its independent fire-fighting force with its own paid full-time fireman. He pointed out it would be possible for five fire commissioners to be elected from one district, thus giving improper representation.

Homestead Valley Fire Commissioner Carl Modell, advocating the merger, claimed consolidation would make possible 24-hour skilled coverage of the entire area from two stations. He said it would reduce the tax rate in both valleys.

Fred E. Kaiser of the Pacific Fire Rating Bureau has indicated the merger would benefit both areas, said club President Jo Schlesinger.

Americans consume an average of 160 pounds of meat each, per year.

Marinwood Meets Tonight On Fire Chief, Bond Issues

A public hearing on two bond issue proposals will be held by the Marinwood Community Services District board tonight at 8 o'clock at the Mary E. Silveira School.

Also under discussion by the board will be disposition of the case of Fire Chief Donald G. Ray, who has been on probation by the fire commission since last September for alleged laxity in fire department operation.

The bond issues will be on a two-part ballot for acceptance or rejection of (1) proposition A: $366,000 for acquisition of land and construction of a fire house and community building, and (2) proposition B: $82,000 for construction of a swimming pool.

Both facilities would be virtually the same as those proposed on a bond issue last September and which was narrowly defeated as a single proposition.

The new proposition, on which voters could vote for either of the facilities, both of them or neither, is scheduled to come to a vote on Feb. 20.

Evidence and charges, both for and against Ray, will be heard by the board.

Among supporters of the fire chief is the Marinwood Citizens Committee whose executive board on Tuesday night approved a resolution supporting Ray and urging the fire commission to "expunge the record" of charges against the chief. The resolution will be presented to the board tonight.

The citizens committee also elected Robert D. Weinmann of 888 Greenberry Lane as new chairman, a spokesman said.

Also scheduled to be presented to the community services district board is a petition in support of Ray which was circulated among the 20 members of the Marinwood Volunteer Firemen's Assn.

In other business tonight, the board will appoint a new board member to replace Charles Johnson, who recently resigned. Routine reports will be given by the recreation commission and fire commission.

Chartered busses will leave Menke square in Corte Madera at 5 a.m. and return to the square after the all-day event at 10 p.m.

CHP To Give Daily Stolen Vehicles List

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—The California highway patrol has announced it will publish a daily bulletin listing stolen and recovered vehicles in license number order.

"The bulletin will be distributed seven days a week," said Brandford M. Crittenden, CHP commissioner. "Each day's listing will contain every vehicle stolen or recovered in California during the previous 24 hours, plus a list of stolen and recovered license plates.

"This service should prove beneficial to the public," he said. "because of the potential for quicker recoveries, reduction of stripping through faster identification of abandoned vehicles, and an overall reduction of vehicle thefts."

Crittenden said the use of electronic equipment has proved of much value in the assembly and accumulation of the data. He said the listing is in license number order for easy reference and should increase the capability of every enforcement agency to provide speedier, more accurate checks on vehicles believed to be stolen.

The new bulletin will be in addition to the present semimonthly bulletin of stolen and wanted vehicles.

Semester Ends Jan. 25 For Tam High District

High schools in the Tamalpais Union High School District will end the semester Jan. 25 and begin the spring semester Jan. 29.

Students in the three schools, Tamalpais, Redwood and Sir Francis Drake, will get a one-day vacation on Friday Jan. 26. Teachers, however, will remain at school to complete grading of final tests.

STATE PUTS POISON IN STAFFORD LAKE

The California Department of Fish and Game put poison in Stafford Lake yesterday.

Novato residents needn't worry, though, said Jerome B. Gilbert, general manager of the North Marin Water District.

In the first place, the poison used will dissipate within a week, said Gilbert.

In the second place, Novatans aren't drinking Stafford Lake water now. They're drinking Russian River water, arriving through the new pipeline from Petaluma.

The fish in the lake were poisoned with rotenone. The reason, said Gilbert, is that most were predatory bluegills, which had killed off the bass in the lake. "We've hardly any good bass left," he said.

When the water has risen sufficiently from winter rains, the state will restock the lake with large-mouth bass and red-ear sunfish.

One problem remains for the water district: What to do with the dead fish.

Clerk Typist-Matron Hired For Sausalito Police Force

Sausalito hired Mrs. Beatrice Rosenthal yesterday as a police clerk-typist-matron to handle the desk and telephone calls at the police department and free an officer for outside duty.

Authorization was made Tuesday night by the city council.

Mrs. Rosenthal is the second person added to the police department this week, the first being Robert Ward who was hired as police officer.

Both were hired on a temporary basis, pending preparation of a new eligibility list. Mrs. Rosenthal will be paid $320 per month. She formerly was a receptionist with Cuyahoga County Juvenile Court at Cleveland, Ohio. She and her husband, Ben, reside at 47 Cable Roadway.

A bird that uses a tool is the Australian bowerbird, which paints his elaborate nest using a wad of chewed bark in his beak.

Sausalito Street Contract Awarded

Ghilotti Brothers, Inc., of San Rafael has been awarded a contract by the Sausalito City Council to pave and widen South Street from Second Street to Alexander Avenue, Second Street to Richardson Street to South and all of Alexander.

Ghilotti was low bidder at $14,897. Other bidders were Lee Mac Paving Co. of Corte Madera, $15,354; Brown-Ely Co., San Rafael, $18,082, and O. C. Jones and Sons, Berkeley, $18,809. Estimate of the city had been $14,450.

Reed Schools Might Have To Reduce Staff

Reed School District may have to reduce its administrative or special services staff to conform to new state legislation, it was indicated Tuesday night.

The board scheduled a closed session following a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Reed School to discuss who may be released at the end of the current year.

Supt. Edward C. Pino explained that a new state law requiring that 60 per cent of the total budget be spent on teacher salaries does not count administrators and various other special personnel. Reed will have difficulty meeting the requirement, he said.

The problem was brought out in preliminary discussion of next year's budget.

Reed Schools Might Have To Reduce Staff

Reed School District may have to reduce its administrative or special services staff to conform to new state legislation, it was indicated Tuesday night.

The board scheduled a closed session following a meeting at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at Reed School to discuss who may be released at the end of the current year.

Supt. Edward C. Pino explained that a new state law requiring that 60 per cent of the total budget be spent on teacher salaries does not count administrators and various other special personnel. Reed will have difficulty meeting the requirement, he said.

The problem was brought out in preliminary discussion of next year's budget.

RESTOCKING GRANT'S

Pretty Wanda Stevenson wasn't caught with her hand in the Cookie Jug, she is restocking at Grant's in the Corte Madera Center after the store's "best Christmas ever."

Home Decorator Has New Ideas At Montgomery Ward

Outdoor arbors make indoor room dividers, and ordinary fence gates make headboards in Montgomery Ward's collection of "fresh ideas" for today's budget minded do-it-yourself home decorator.

R. C. Batty, manager of the Montgomery Ward retail store in Corte Madera said these are just a few of the many ideas now being displayed in the store and described in the January issue of a national home magazine. (Good Housekeeping).

"Today's housewife needs only ideas and inexpensive materials to obtain the lush decorator look for her home," Batty said. "For instance, she can use flower fencing for a wall cornice, or a nuts and bolts cabinet for a coffee-table tabaret and carriage lights for reading lamps."

The eight-page article, titled "Decorated To Order By Mail," describes a variety of ideas that make ordinary home furnishings and household items into decorator's dreams. Two well-known designers (Lublin-er and Himmel, A.I.D.) use basic Montgomery Ward merchandise and, with ideas and imagination, created the glamorous color settings featured in the article.

"Today's h ome furnishings are particularly adaptable to this procedure," Batty said. "Smart lines and quality construction assure lasting style and rugged wear. The new fabrics clean well and are tough. While our furnishings are excellent by themselves, our customers will be amazed to see what 'fresh ideas' will accomplish to give any room setting an entirely different and unusual flavor at a very small cost.

"Vignettes are becoming quite popular this year, also," he said. "Try using a three-drawer, sliding door cabinet with a spray of artificial flowers, books, and a new mosaic tile wallpiece against an unused wall. It becomes a life-sized still-life study."

Batty, suggested using another idea from the magazine for an unusual carpeting effect. "Piece together several narrow throw rugs and you'll have a multi-colored strip of carpeting for hallways or for a wall-to-wall effect in rooms. This helps produce an impression of length and expanse in rooms that ordinarily seem small. Besides, the color combinations you can get by piecing are not usually obtainable in wide-width merchandise."

READY FOR THE NEW YEAR

George (Duke) Barker is shown readying Mrs. Martha Wood of 153 Birch, Corte Madera, for the new year. Barker is co-owner of Mam'Selle Beauty Shop at Corte Madera Center with Mrs. John (Flo) May of Mill Valley.

Ancient Egyptians Had Medicine Doctors—Gave Much To Science

CAIRO (UPI) — Medical science largely owes its origin to ancient Egypt, land of the Pharoahs.

From Egypt came the earliest medical books, the first observations of medical anatomy and the first experiments in surgery and pharmacy.

Many now well known drugs were first used by the Egyptians. They include hartshorn, castor oil, mandragora, cumin and coriander.

Egypt's greatest contributions to medicine, however, were autopsy and dissection. During the Ptolemaic age, physicians and anatomists practiced for the first time the systematic dissection of the human corpse, which until then had been forbidden by religious and popular prejudice.

The ruins of tombs and temples have enabled science to reconstruct the civilization of ancient Egypt. The details of the funeral cults have been one of the most fruitful sources of information.

The ancient Egyptians were approximately of the same dimensions as the average contemporary man, or slightly smaller. Ancient Egyptians used to shave their heads and wore wigs under which they often put perfumed fats. The fats melted with the head of the wig and gave out aroma.

Male circumcision was known and was practiced widely.

There were three kinds of healers in Egypt around 1600 B.C.: physicians, surgeons and doctors of the mind who combined faith healing with a form of psychoanalysis.

In operations, surgeons used red-hot instruments to check bleeding. In healing wounds, they made use of different ointments, especially a mixture of oil and honey.

The mind doctors inspired their patients psychically and narrated stories, recited prayers and used exorcisms to help their patients regain inner strength and confidence.

Spells also were recited on applying a salve, or loosening a bandage and on drinking medicine. These were not intended to replace the medical treatment but to supplement it. It was believed that faith in the effect of the remedy greatly contributed to the restoration of health.

Bandages were made of linen and manufactured by the embalming trade for surgical use.

Medicaments applied externally almost always were bandaged on. Mummification developed a high skill in bandaging.

Plugs or swabs of linen were inserted into the nostrils in cases of injury to the nose, both for the purpose of cleaning and applying medication.

Adhesive plaster, made of bands or strips of liner, was applied transversely across large flesh wounds to bring the edges together. Surgical stitching also was used on wounds.

Cauterization was employed in cases of unidentified tumors or ulcers.

For ordinary wounds, a favorable remedy was fresh meat applied to the wound the first day, but no longer, and usually followed by a daily application of lint saturated with an ointment of grease and honey.

One Million Cats? Yes, In Rome Today

ROME (UPI)—As famous as the Seven Hills, and apparently just as eternal, are the cats of Rome.

There are legions of them. And they have survived Roman Imperialism, pestilence, famine, kingdoms, invasions, Fascism and world wars.

Estimates of the uncommonly large cat population in Rome run as high as one million, or half the human population of the ancient city.

They are tolerated by Romans, more so than dogs or birds.

Stray dogs get short shrift on the cobblestoned streets of this city. They are quickly picked up and done away with.

Not so with cats, which seem to live a charmed life and regard Rome as an "open city" as far as their existence is concerned.

It was not always so.

Shortly before the war, an over-zealous Fascist minister ordered all cats "deported" from Rome. He felt they were "infesting" the Colosseum, the Roman Forum, the Pantheon and the ruins of the ancient city. Their number, he said, was getting out of hand.

Truckloads of cats of all sizes and colors were collected and taken down to the Pontine marshes, south of the city and released.

The story goes that a good 50 per cent of the "deportees" returned to their favorite ancient haunts.

There are "characteristic" types of cats in Rome, depending on where they live.

The roughest and toughest are found in the damp cellars and dungeons of the almost 2,000-year-old Colosseum.

The Colosseum seems to be the favorite place of Romans to drop the five or six or more kittens they don't want.

Maybe that makes this breed the toughest in all of Rome — survival of the fittest.

Down the road from the Colosseum lives another exclusive breed—the cats of the ruins of the Roman Forum. They are tough too, but a bit more domesticated.

Regarded as the most gentle and sophisticated of Roman cats are the vast colonies living around the Piazza Navona and the Via Margutta, where Rome's artistic colony lives.

The cats in the Piazza Navona sun themselves on statues, stairs and monuments and entrances to churches waiting for feeding time. That comes when the sidewalk meat, fish and vegetable stalls close down in mid-morning.

As if at a signal, the cats dart down to the stalls for the left-overs, eat their fill and purr back contentedly for their afternoon siesta.

Even more diverting is feeding time on the Via Margutta, where thoughtful old women bring down plates of food for the stray cats about noon daily.

NEW PRESIDENT—Harry Kramar of Kramar's Shoes in the Corte Madera Center is the newly elected President of the Center's Merchants Council. Kramar is a Corte Madera resident and is a member of the Lion's Club of that city.

New Council President Gives New Year's View

Harry Kramer, new President of the Corte Madera Center Merchants Council, has issued the following New Year Statement:

"May the new year, 1962, bring happiness and prosperity to all of the friends of Corte Madera Center.

"The past year has been a year of great activity and growth and 1962 promises to be even greater. Our monthly special events program has been well accepted and the best of these will be continued. New and exciting events are planned for this year.

"We, the merchants of Corte Madera Center, will continue to take part, as a group and as individuals, in community affairs and community service organizations. We will continue our endeavor to make our Center a credit to our neighbors.

"Thank you for our success in 1961.

Join us in the success of 1962."

The Operation Was Frosty

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—The Army picked the right men to supervise the transfer of glacial ice cores, crystals and permafrost from Wilmette, Ill., to its Cold Regions Research Laboratory in Hanover.

The specimens were driven in a specially designed refrigerated trailer, attended by the Army's Robert Frost and civilian Ralph Frost of Chemetron Corp., designer of the trailer. The Frosts are not related.

Deferred Grazing Helps Save Pastures

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — Deferred grazing during the late summer and early fall months can help save pastures for the rest of the year, says Texas A&M College range specialist G. O. Hoffman.

Hoffman recommends keeping livestock off pastures that have just received rain, so the native grasses can grow rapidly and make seed.

Crystal Ball Department

NEW YORK (AP)—High fidelity music in 1970 may emanate from living room walls painted with a special chemical paint that conducts sound waves.

The Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers foresees a tiny audio instrument containing electronic moleculars (the next step after transistors) and a thin 2x2-inch sound cartridge containing a whole evening's music.

The walls will tune into the music's frequency and you will be surrounded by true stereo sound. For a change in mood music the wall colors will change, too.

New Things Are Coming In World Of Medicine

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A new age of down-to-earth medicine is coming into being with the miniaturization and telemetry developed for space exploration.

"Invisible" hearing aids and tiny devices to duplicate the work of missing vocal chords already are in being. Much of the medically useful research in progress is still under secrecy wraps. But what can be told is impressive.

The cumbersome electronic devices of an entire medical clinic may soon be reduced to the carrying size of the doctor's bag, experts told a recent meeting of California industrialists here.

At least 50 of the nation's leading industrial firms, they were told, are engaged in research with medical promise.

A Beckman Instruments Co. gadget called an "Ultra-Micro Analytical System" is now able to make a complete blood analysis from a drop just big enough to fill the eye of a needle.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp. has adapted from a light-weight satellite transmitter a "heart listener" the size of a pacage of cigarettes which can broadcast directly or through a telephone to an electrocardiograph in the doctor's office.

"Some day we won't have to wonder how we are," said a Lockheed official. "We can call up our doctor and say: 'Doctor, how am I?' and the doctor will take a look at the information we are broadcasting to him and say: 'I don't like the way your heart looks. Better chase yourself down to the hospital and go to bed.'"

Remote electronic aids for checking body temperature, pulse rates, blood pressure and other vital functions—similar to the medical hook-ups which relay the condition of astronauts to earth-bound physicians—are already in civilian medical use.

The Operation Was Frosty

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—The Army picked the right men to supervise the transfer of glacial ice cores, crystals and permafrost from Wilmette, Ill., to its Cold Regions Research Laboratory in Hanover.

The specimens were driven in a specially designed refrigerated trailer, attended by the Army's Robert Frost and civilian Ralph Frost of Chemetron Corp., designer of the trailer.

The Frosts are not related.

Deferred Grazing Helps Save Pastures

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (UPI) — Deferred grazing during the late summer and early fall months can help save pastures for the rest of the year, says Texas A&M College range specialist G. O. Hoffman.

Hoffman recommends keeping livestock off pastures that have just received rain, so the native grasses can grow rapidly and make seed.

Crystal Ball Department

NEW YORK (AP)—High fidelity music in 1970 may emanate from living room walls painted with a special chemical paint that conducts sound waves.

The Institute of High Fidelity Manufacturers foresees a tiny audio instrument containing electronic moleculars (the next step after transistors) and a thin 2x2-inch sound cartridge containing a whole evening's music.

The walls will tune into the music's frequency and you will be surrounded by true stereo sound. For a change in mood music the wall colors will change, too.

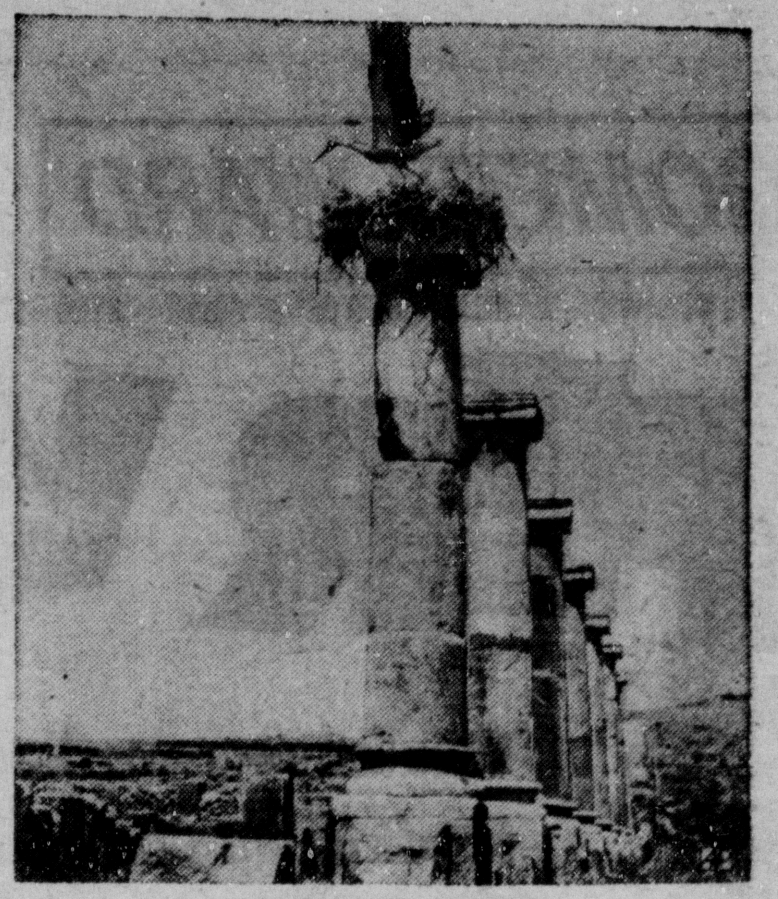
TESTER GETS TESTED

Final checkout of Bendix Corp. chamber for testing space capsules is made at Ann Arbor, Mich. Polyethelene bag filled with helium encloses 20 by 27-foot chamber as it is pumped down to vacuum of space at altitude of over 246 miles.



ANCIENT PERCH

The top of a 2,000-year-old column, remains of an old Roman colony near Rabat, Morocco, is the noval choice of a stork for its home roost.

German Nobility Now Opening Up Castles

FRANKFURT (UPI)—Members of the German nobility have taken a leaf from the book of their British cousins and are cashing in on the flow of tourists, particularly from the United States, to Germany.

But while t he British nobility opened manors and castles as museums for casual visitors, German baronesses have donned aprons and counts and dukes have rolled up their sleeves to turn their castles into turreted hotels.

More than 75 ancient castles, with towers, thick walls and moats were added this year to those whose drawbridges are down to house and feed visitors.

Typical was the famous Bettenburg Castle, whose owner, Baron Diedrich Truchsess von Wetzhausen, recalled the tribulations of the first day he opened it to foreign guests.

"Six hundred sausages were sold in a jiffy," the Baron said. "The coffee ran out and the provisions of cake were short."

Almost all of the seven Truchsess children got into the act, decorating cakes with whipped cream frosting, acting as cigarette girls or relaying steins of beer to thirsty guests.

"The start was hectic," the Baron said, smiling, "but pretty soon we got things fixed up."

The first money earned in the venture went into new plumbing for the old buildings and making more space for guests.

Another noble family now in the tourist business had misgivings at first.

Baroness Magda von Etzendorf feared it might be degrading for the descendants of an ancient family to serve guests in their castle near Mainz.

"Certainly my ancestors might have turned in their graves," the Baroness said. "But now the booming business has given me a new sense of self-respect and importance."

Baroness von Etzendorf had high praise for American tourists.

"They are so nice to me," she said. "The Americans adore titles and sometimes I feel I am a guest in my own castle."

But American visitors also set some standards for the castle-hotels, she said. Their idea of what a castle should look like often is formed by Hollywood films, she said, and many believe castles without armor or moats do not look genuine.

The Baroness admitted she had the Etzendorf Castle's moat widened to make it look more impressive.

"But I hardly can do anything to provide more armor," she said. "There is but one armor maker left in Germany and he has orders for several years in advance."

Dental Patients Survey Is Made

NEW YORK (UPI) — One out of every eight dental patients has a tooth extracted and two out of 11 have X-rays, a survey by the American Dental Association shows.

The survey report noted that the average dentist has 1,184 patients who visit his office 3,130 times a year.

Heists At Junk Yard Separate

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP)— Rudy Delmore, who operates an auto junk yard, can understand why someone would steal 65 of his auto radiators and 13 batteries, but he couldn't figure out why the raider took his pet tan-and-white guinea pig.

Later an 8-year-old boy confessed that he was the guinea pig thief, but didn't know anything about the other loot.

Bangkok Good Place To See Old, New Asia At Same Time

BANGKOK, Thailand (UPI) — This is one of those far away places with the strange sounding names they sing about — and once seen, you'll be singing about it, too.

Bangkok is the perfect vantage point from which to get a glimpse of old and new Asia at the same time. They still buy and sell fresh fruits and vegetables and what have you from little boats on the river — or offer some of the finest examples of auto age traffic jams you can find anywhere in the world.

The dazzling under the sun colors both inside and outside the buildings of the Grand Palace (pick out any color in the rainbow and you'll find it there) is a picture from another and more royal age.

But the road widening by filling in the brackish water klongs (or canals) that lace through this city of 1.5 million people is a page from the new and building Asia.

And, at that, Bangkok isn't such a far-away place anymore. For example, Scandinavian Airlines system (SAS) recently inaugurated through-plane jet service from Copenhagen that takes only 18 hours and 45 minutes to Bangkok. Add a little over seven hours for crossing the Atlantic, and it's little more than a day from New York.

Once in Bangkok, as in practically any Asian city, the smartest way to see it is as part of a tour group. It saves getting lost in a confusion of streets that tend to curve and twist, rather than run true.

A tour is the most practical way of getting inside the grounds of the Grand Palace, because it leaves getting permission from the Royal Household Bureau up to the tour agency. The place is a "must see" on any visit to Bangkok. The ornate colors of the gold-trimmed Funeral Hall, and the 7,500 handpainted figures on the wall (representing angels with their hands folded in welcome) is typical of Siamese architecture and art going back to the late 18th Century.

If it's a Sunday or a Buddhist holy day, you can get in to see the interior of the Wat Pra Kaew (Temple of the Emerald Buddha), and marvel at the gold-leafed altar and figures, topped by the emerald-green Buddah carved from a single block of jasper. And you'll see the devout offering incense and flowers before entering the temple sans shoes.

Scenes like that, and the towering demon gate-keeper statues with their weapons, are what make amateur photographers wish they had brought an extra roll of color film along. There's too much color and gold leaf to remember.

The place is a "must see" on any visit to Bangkok. The ornate colors of the gold-trimmed Funeral Hall, and the 7,500 handpainted figures on the wall (representing angels with their hands folded in welcome) is typical of Siamese architecture and art going back to the late 18th Century.

If it's a Sunday or a Buddhist holy day, you can get in to see the interior of the Wat Pra Kaew (Temple of the Emerald Buddha), and marvel at the gold-leafed altar and figures, topped by the emerald-green Buddah carved from a single block of jasper. And you'll see the devout offering incense and flowers before entering the temple sans shoes.

Scenes like that, and the towering demon gate-keeper statues with their weapons, are what make amateur photographers wish they had brought an extra roll of color film along. There's too much color and gold leaf to remember.

YOUNG CLOTHES

Sweaters, Pegged Pants In Style

By JANET POPPIN

The wonderful bubble of sweaters has burst this year with dozens of varied styles drifting to the attention of the teen-age eye.

Burnt orange, spicy brown, drab green, or icy blue cardigans and pullovers of fuzzy, meshy mohair with crew or turtle neck have quickly latched onto the merry-go-round of fashion.

The boys are sporting black Ivy League button down cardigans, while the girls have definitely accepted the new sleeveless look in cotton-candy pink, silver frost, and apricot.

Long sleeved Ivy League and collarless blouses in a rainbow of colors have made themselves at home under sweaters, tunics, and jumpers or top wool, cotton, or burlap skirts, capris, and Bermudas. The boys have voted both burlap and cotton Ivy League shirts first place under sweaters.

Pegged pants are here to stay. Ranging from slightly tapered to dramatically fitting, these pants have been seen in beige, black, olive green, and gray cotton corduroy. Evenings are finding the slightly pegged wool pants escorting bubbly semi-formals, sleek sheaths, and bouncy party satins of lime mist, copper glint, midnight blue, peach parfait, and raspberry sherbert.

With twinkling toes constantly in the spotlight, changing shoe styles have found a place in the fashion whirl. The latest looks in flats and heels are the square and oval toes. The new "little heels" have made their debut this fall at schools and parties in sling and plain pump styles.

Tiny buttons and bows with pearls and rhinestones carefully accentuate dainty evening slippers of satin, velvet, broadcloth, faille, patent, and leather. Shoe styles from the famous Peppermint Lounge in New York, where society personalities started doing the twist, have been booming with teenagers. These shoes called the twist look much like plain flats except for a row of stitching around the shoes and a twisted bow. The boys' version resembles the popular loafer with a cross strip that is twisted.

Purses extending to 18 inches in length are being carried into fashion this fall with a new slim tailored line. The large tote bags of last year are not to be forgotten too quickly, however, as they have made their comeback in broad burlaps and heavy straws of various shapes and colors.

Before completing the wardrobe, one cannot forget the hair styles. The most popular styles with the girls are the puffy artichoke and tulip flip and that with the boys, the flat Ivy League cut.

Good Partner For The Twist

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dancer Julie Mendez, a petite and pretty brunette, is unique among the members of her profession. She keeps snakes in her living room.

At the moment, Julie's collection includes three boa constrictors and one python. One of the boas, Mogambo, shared a scene with her in Mark Robson's recent production of "The Inspector."

In this screen sequence, in which Julie performs as a cabaret entertainer in a Tangier night club, she concludes her dance by planting a kiss squarely on Mogambo's mouth.

World Bank Ready To Help New Nations In Africa

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The World Bank is mobilizing money and men to help emerging African nations—and nowhere is it more apparent than in British East Africa.

The bank recently started a three-month survey mission in Kenya. It already has surveyed Tanganyika and Uganda, Kenya's neighbors and potential partners in an East African Federation.

A bank spokesman emphasized that "these are not surveys of British East Africa as such—but of separate countries."

The bank has loaned 800 million dollars in Africa. But 200 million dollars went to the long-ago emerged Union of South Africa and much of the rest was loaned through colonial powers.

Bank membership is expected to increase soon from 70 to 80, largely because of new African nations which no longer can lean on the major powers.

"Our role in African development has been small compared to that in Latin America," the bank spokesman said. "Our activities there are increasing rapidly, however."

The larger role of the bank as an adviser and lender in Africa is reflected in its activities in East Africa.

The job of the 10-member mission in Kenya is "to undertake a general survey of the economy and to assist in the formulation of a program designed to stimulate and expand economic growth and thereby to raise the standard of living of the people."

It will assess the amount of capital the government could use for development purposes over the next five years and make recommendations for priority investment allocations.

As in the previous East African missions the British government joined with the local government in requesting the surveys.

The Tanganyika survey report already has been published. In a conclusion that could well apply in the near future to Kenya and Uganda, the report said Tanganyika has reached "a challenging point" in its history when it should become "clear to the people of Tanganyika, as never before, that their future is in their own hands."
